Congolese Plan To Meet Sunday For Peace Talks

Government, Rebel Leaders Will Confer At Two Neutral Points

By PETER GROSE

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Congo central government and rebel leaders will meet Sunday in neutral Congolese territory to negotiate political and military differences.

Gen. Joseph Mobutu, military strongman of the Leopoldville government, announced arrangements to meet the rebel commander in Oriental Province, Gen. Victor Lundula, at Bumba, a river town on the neutral border between Equator and Oriental provinces.

Leopoldville Vice Premier Jean Balikongo disclosed he will meet the Stanleyville rebel leader, Antoine Gizenga, the same day at the jungle village of Bundoki, about 30 miles from Bumba, on the same border.

The developments, indicating possibility of an all-Congo settlement, followed swiftly a gesture by the central government toward reconciliation. The government lifted its 4-month-old blockade of rebel Oriental and Kivu provinces.

The choice of the neutral sites followed telephone conferences between Leopoldville authorities and Gen. Lundula, who also was speaking for Gizenga.

The ice may have been finally broken by the decision of the Leopoldville regime to lift its blockade. Economics Minister Jean-Pierre Dericoyard told a news conference two Congo River barges carrying 800 tons of sorely needed supplies will leave Leopoldville Tuesday for Stanleyville.

But Dericoyard warned the blockade would be reimposed if rebel soldiers or authorities should threaten security of the goods or the transport workers in charge of the shipment.

The blockade also had hurt Leopoldville. Valuable foreign exchange earnings were sacrificed from the rich agricultural provinces' exports of cotton, palm oil, coffee and other commodities. About 25,000 tons of such goods now wait to be shipped to Leopoldville for export.

Valuable copper shipments from the mines of Katanga Province, where secessionist President Moise Tshombe holds sway, now are being routed through Portuguese Angola, Dericoyard said, deprising the central government of foreign exchange which would be realized if the ore went through a Congolese port.

Rusk Urges Scientific Peace Action

By JOHN N. HERBERS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Friday the world may have reached a unique moment when its peoples are pinning their hopes on scientific progress rather than expansion and war.

Rusk, addressing the centennial celebration of the founding of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, warned the gathering of world scientists that the opportunity must be grasped quickly or pressures to seize another's resources would be overwhelming.

More than 4,000 gathered on the MIT campus to hear the secretary. The 100th anniversary observance drew more than 150 of the world's top scientists, including six Nobel Prize winners and men from behind the Iron Curtain. The Soviet Union was not represented.

Rusk's speech preceded an address by British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. Macmillan flew into Boston late in the afternoon from Washington where he and President Kennedy for the past two days have been exploring ways to tighten the Western alliance and render free world defenses more effective against communism.

Returns To Washington

Rusk said the period since the Second World War had been unique.

"We have on one side a revolution of rising expectations," he said, "a keen interest in removal of obstacles to a decent life.

"Alongside of this you have a population explosion which threatens to put intolerable pressures on us.

"Yet with this combination one does not find anywhere in the world any government or any nation making any systematic claim for what might be called "lebensraum" (living space).

"We have no announced policy in the world of the need to seize the resources of another society. It seems a curious thing. Perhaps it is a moment when the nations and peoples of the earth seem to be pinning their hopes on scientific and technical developments.

Opportunity For Progress

"It may be we have a chance for a time to get a job done which will dig deeply into the consciousness of man and put us in a position to give up the temptations to predatory seizure of resources elsewhere."

Rusk said it was easy to be discouraged by the lack of progress in building a peaceful world society.

"Unfortunately, there are those

Accused Spy Goes Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department announced that Igor Y. Melekh, Soviet employe of the United Nations against whom a spying charge was dropped by this country, would leave New York Friday night aboard the liner Bremen for home.

Melekh and Willie Hirsch, 52, German-born artist, were seized by FBI agents in New York last October a few hours after a federal grand jury in Chicago returned indictments charging them with conspiring to commit espionage for the Soviet Union.

The United States recently decided to ease friction with the Soviet Union by dropping prosecution of the two men. Dismissal of indictments was made conditional upon Melekh's leaving this country by April 17.

Civil Defense Criticism Gets Sharp Answer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. August E. Johansen, R-Mich., said Friday he believes a Maryland senator's recent criticism of the Civil Defense operation at Battle Creek, Mich., stems from a desire to move the agency to Maryland.

Johansen said Sen. John Marshall Butler, R-Md., "has never recovered from his disappointment over his failure in 1954 to locate the agency in Maryland and have an expensive new federal building erected there."

"I suspect that the hope of seeing this accomplished has not yet completely died, and that it has some bearing on his current recommendation to the president."

Butler wrote President Kennedy earlier this week urging an immediate transfer to Washington of key Civil Defense personnel now stationed at the Battle Creek headquarters.

Johansen said this recommendation "reveals a shocking ignorance" on Butler's part of the operational setup. Key policy-making and liaison personnel, he said, were transferred to Washington in 1958.

Auto Output Increase Seen

DETROIT (UPI)—Auto production declined again this week Ward's Automotive Reports said Friday, but it will begin next week to show an upturn from the low levels of the first quarter of the year.

The auto industry turned out an estimated 92,994 cars this week, compared with 101,571 last week and 133,460 in the same week last year.

Truck production for this week was pegged at 23,626, compared with 21,288 last week and 27,748 in the same week a year ago.

This brought combined car-truck output for the week to 116,620, compared with 122,859 last week and 161,208 in the same week last year.

Coal Production Still On Decline

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Bituminous coal output fell to 6,565,000 tons in the week ended April 6 from 6,625,000 tons a week earlier and compared with 7,658,000 tons in the same week last year, the National Coal Association reported Friday.

Year-to-date output of soft coal approximated 90,547,000 tons compared with 111,209,000 tons in the similar period last year.

Mayors Cite Need For New Housing Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The mayors of Chicago, New Haven, Conn., and Norfolk, Va., told Congress Friday that approval of President Kennedy's $3.2 billion housing program would help eliminate slums and blight in their cities.

But a spokesman for the American Bankers' Association said that an administration proposal to extend 40-year, no-down-payment mortgages to low income families might create more slums.

The opposing views were presented to a Senate housing subcommittee considering Kennedy's long-range plan to stimulate home building and wipe out slums.

Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley said its enactment would help his city eradicate slums by 1971.

Daley gave across-the-board endorsement to Kennedy's program particularly a proposed step-up in urban renewal grants to $2.5 billion over the next four years.

Mayor Richard C. Lee of New Haven, Conn., and Mayor W. Fred Duckworth, of Norfolk, Va., also supported the Kennedy Program.

Duckworth said urban renewal provides the greatest single hope for checking urban decay. Lee called the proposed housing legislation a major breakthrough in efforts to reverse the decline of American cities.

Opposition to the White House proposals came from Cowles Andrus, president of the New Jersey Bank and Trust Company, Passaic, N.J., a spokesman for the Bankers Association.

Andrus questioned whether 40-year, no-down-payment government insured mortgages for low and moderate income families would do much good.

Such long-term mortgages, Andrus said, will restrict the supply of mortgage money because it reduces the yearly flow of repayments.

Senate Probe Puts Navy On Watery Spot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy leaders ran into rough seas at a Senate defense hearing today trying to explain why it took so long to locate the seized Portuguese liner, Santa Maria.

They never did satisfy Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., who brought up the matter at a closed session of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Russell, chairman of the committee, told newsmen about it afterward.

"I still can't understand it. Here was a big, big ship with its radio going full blast 24 hours and it took the Navy four or five days to even find it," he said.

Russell said he reminded Navy leaders that they had gotten "tens of millions of dollars worth of radars, sonars and other electronics equipment to locate enemy ships, aircraft and submarines and yet they needed several days to find a big passenger liner."

Secretary of the Navy John B. Connally, Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, the chief of naval operations, and other top officers, were questioned by the senator.

"The only explanation I remember is there was 'lots of water' out there," Russell said.

The Santa Maria, with nearly 600 passengers and a crew of 368, was seized Jan. 22 by a group of 27 Portuguese led by Capt. Henrique Galvao, who boarded it at the Isle of Curacao in the Caribbean.

A widespread search by U.S. Navy ships and aircraft finally located the liner Jan. 25. It was escorted to Recife, Brazil, where the crew and passengers, including numerous U.S. citizens, were landed.

Consumer Protection Administration Good

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy said Friday that protection of the consumer "is a first order of national and community business."

The administration is making "every effort to grant the fullest protection to the consumer" because this aim is "of basic importance to the economic well being of the country," he said.

The President's statements were in a telegram sent to the annual conference of the Council on Consumer Information, meeting in St. Louis.

Air Guard Jet Destroys Giant Plane

Accident Occurs During Practice Over New Mexico

By JERRY BROWN

GRANTS, N.M. (UPI)—An F100 jet intercepted a B52 bomber at 34,000 feet in Air Force war games Friday, roared by in five successful passes, and on the sixth accidentally fired a heat-seeking side winder missile that blew the bomber from the sky.

At least three of the eight crew members survived. Bedding and supplies were dropped to rescuers bogged in mud in a search which was to continue through the night.

The three survivors parachuted from the bomber, and the Air Force said it was presumed the other five had also.

Air Force spokesmen at Washington and at Kirtland Air Force Base said they did not know how it could happen. The Pentagon said five different safety checks are made, before interceptors work with target planes in such exercises, to make sure an armed missile will not be released inadvertently.

Kirtland AFB said the survivors included Capt. George D. Jackson 27, of Richwood, W. Va.; Capt. Donald D. Blodgett, 39, of Kalamazoo, Mich., and Staff Sgt. Raymond H. Singleton, 27, Havre de Grace, Md.

The missing included Capt. Ray C. Obel, 28, Logan, Ohio; Capt. Stephen Carter, 29, East Hartford, Conn.; 2nd Lt. Glenn V. Bair, 24, Kemmerer, Wyo.; Capt. Peter J. Gineris, Albuquerque, N.M., and Staff Sgt. Manuel L. Mieras, 23, Flagstaff, Ariz.

The F100 was piloted by Lt. James Van Scyoc of the New Mexico Air National Guard's 188th Interceptor Wing.

"There are many safety devices on the interceptor which must be activated before such weapons can be fired," the Air Force said. "In this instance the safety checks were made prior to the intercept".

Van Scyoc landed his F100 safely at his home base of Kirtland near Albuquerque, N.M., shortly after the incident. He was not permitted to comment publicly.

The B52, which costs $8 million and is the largest bomber in the U.S. Air Force, was based at Biggs AFB, El Paso, Tex. The Air Force said it did not carry any nuclear weapons, and the Sidewinder does not carry a nuclear warhead.

The Sidewinder is attracted by heat, and its purpose is to seek out the terrific flame produced by the jet engines of enemy aircraft. The F100 is built by North American, and is modified to carry the Sidewinder, which is nine feet long and weighs 155 pounds.

Kirtland officials said both planes were on authorized training flights, and that the two aircraft had been "working together" on the war game exercise.

Wreckage of the bomber was spotted from an Air Force helicopter shortly before nightfall about 15 miles north of Mt. Taylor, an 11,389-foot high peak west of here.

The survivors were being taken to the home of rancher Floyd Lee, on whose property the huge aircraft crashed.

V. Pres. Brings Kennedy Report

Finds Faith, Hope, Confidence Everywhere In Administration

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson returned from a 13,000-mile mission to Africa and Europe Friday with a report that U.S. representatives will work day and night to obtain a nuclear test ban agreement with Russia.

He said if such an agreement is not possible "it will not be the fault of the United States and the United Kingdom."

The vice president's Air Force jet transport landed at Andrews Air Force Base and Johnson, with key members of his party, flew at once by helicopter to the White House to report to President Kennedy on his week-long trip.

Johnson told reporters before boarding the helicopter that he had a very successful trip. His mission carried him to Senegal, Geneva and Paris, where Friday morning he conferred with Prime Minister Michel Debre.

Johnson and Debre conferred on the subjects to be discussed by Kennedy and President Charles de Gaulle when Kennedy flies to Paris May 31.

"Everywhere we went we found new hope and faith in the new administration," Johnson said.

He said the people of Puerto Rico, where his plane made a refueling stop, were "very appreciative of the President's position on the 'alliance for progress,'" Kennedy's program of aid for Latin America.

He said the Puerto Ricans were looking forward to making contributions to the program.

Johnson discussed at some length his Geneva visit, where Arthur H. Dean, chief U.S. delegate, is struggling to make some progress on a nuclear test ban agreement with the Russians.

The vice president said he found the "skilled and most able Dean making an earnest and fervent appeal for the Russians to stand by the position they took last fall."

The Soviets now are insisting on a veto power over an inspection system, a demand unacceptable to the West.

"We emphasized the President's intense interest in this meeting and his desire that every avenue be explored to find agreement,"

Eichmann Trial Opens Tuesday In Jerusalem

By RELMAN MORIN

JERUSALEM (AP)—An Israeli soldier, rifle in hand, sits in a cubicle behind bullet-proof glass.

When his watch ends another armed guard takes his place. So it will be around the clock until next Tuesday morning when Adolf Eichmann, for whom the cubicle was built, enters this special courtroom in Jerusalem and his trial begins.

Eichmann was Gestapo chief in charge of Jewish affairs in Nazi Germany during World War II. He will go on trial for "crimes against the Jewish people and crimes against humanity" under a law which carries the death penalty.

The bullet-proof glass cubicle and the armed guards occupying it 24 hours daily visibly illustrate the stringency of security measures the government and police are taking. For the man who is accused of complicity in the slaughter of six million Jews during the war probably would not live long without such protection.

It is impossible to describe the emotions aroused merely by his name in Israel. Nearly every family of Jews from Europe living in Israel lost one or more relatives in Nazi death camps.

Consequently the Beth Ha'am—community center—which has been converted into a huge courtroom resembles a supersecret military installation.

Soldiers are stationed on the roof. They look down on strong steel fences watching the streets and everyone who enters and leaves.

The city, however, appears calm.

Only a handful of Israelis watch the center from across the street. It is surrounded by homes and apartments but there are few curious faces in the windows.

Eichmann was brought to a cell in the building this week from the fortress prison near Djalameh, a village six miles east of Haifa.

Authorities disclosed he had been held at the prison since Israeli agents spirited him out of Argentina last May.

With Eichmann's transfer to

Laos King Urges Warring Factions To Talk Peace

By JOHN RODERICK

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—King Savang Vathana was reported Friday using a firm hand to bring Laos' warring factions to the peace table, probably April 28 at the state funeral for his father. One step was said to be a royal veto of a government proposal to ask for intervention by the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Sources close to the monarch said he hopes to get the contending sides together when the funeral of King Sisavang Vong is held in the royal capital of Luang Prabang. He is said to be willing to let Moscow-backed Prince Souvanna Phouma be returned as premier.

Four Soviet transport planes dropped Pathet Lao paratroopers Thursday near royal army headquarters at Vang Vieng, 80 miles north of Vientiane, said the acting information minister, Tiao Sopsaisana. He said he did not know how many were dropped but the operation apparently was to counter an airdrop of royal troops into the area Wednesday, an operation that was reported to take the steam out of the rebel push on Vang Vieng.

Before the latest airdrop, the royal army reported it had pushed 20 miles north of Vang Vieng without opposition in a drive to clear the highway between Vientiane and Luang Prabang, 140 miles to the north.

Both sides were apparently trying to consolidate and gain new ground before a cease-fire freezes them to their positions.

Sources close to the king said he personally vetoed a week ago a step that might have touched off major hostilities over Laos. The foreign ministers of SEATO had just finished meeting in neighboring Bangkok, Thailand, and adopted a resolution to take appropriate action in Laos if necessary.

But the king was reported personally to have overruled a proposal by Premier Boun Oum's government to ask help from SEATO against the Pathet Lao. An informant said the king feared such a step would bring massive intervention from Red China and the Soviet Union.

Instead, he backed Britain's call for a cease-fire, to be followed by a 14-nation peace conference, and embarked on a plan to use the funeral of his father to bring the contending sides together.

King Sisavang died in 1959. As is the custom in Laos, the body was preserved for a state funeral later. Informants said the funeral might bring together Prince Souvanna, who fled into exile when forces loyal to Boun Oum seized Vientiane; Souvanna's half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the Pathet Lao; Boun Oum and his defense minister and military strong man, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan.

GRANTS, N.M. (UPI)—An F100 jet intercepted a B52 bomber at 34,000 feet in Air Force war games Friday, roared by in five successful passes, and on the sixth accidentally fired a heat-seeking side winder missile that blew the bomber from the sky.

At least three of the eight crew members survived. Bedding and supplies were dropped to rescuers bogged in mud in a search which was to continue through the night.

The three survivors parachuted from the bomber, and the Air Force said it was presumed the other five had also.

Air Force spokesmen at Washington and at Kirtland Air Force Base said they did not know how it could happen. The Pentagon said five different safety checks are made, before interceptors work with target planes in such exercises, to make sure an armed missile will not be released inadvertently.

Kirtland AFB said the survivors included Capt. George D. Jackson 27, of Richwood, W. Va.; Capt. Donald D. Blodgett, 39, of Kalamazoo, Mich., and Staff Sgt. Raymond H. Singleton, 27, Havre de Grace, Md.

The F100 was piloted by Lt. James Van Scyoc of the New Mexico Air National Guard's 188th Interceptor Wing.

"There are many safety devices on the interceptor which must be activated before such weapons can be fired," the Air Force said. "In this instance the safety checks were made prior to the intercept".

Van Scyoc landed his F100 safely at his home base of Kirtland near Albuquerque, N.M., shortly after the incident. He was not permitted to comment publicly.

The B52, which costs $8 million and is the largest bomber in the U.S. Air Force, was based at Biggs AFB, El Paso, Tex. The Air Force said it did not carry any nuclear weapons, and the Sidewinder does not carry a nuclear warhead.

The Sidewinder is attracted by heat, and its purpose is to seek out the terrific flame produced by the jet engines of enemy aircraft. The F100 is built by North American, and is modified to carry the Sidewinder, which is nine feet long and weighs 155 pounds.

Kirtland officials said both planes were on authorized training flights, and that the two aircraft had been "working together" on the war game exercise.

Wreckage of the bomber was spotted from an Air Force helicopter shortly before nightfall about 15 miles north of Mt. Taylor, an 11,389-foot high peak west of here.

The survivors were being taken to the home of rancher Floyd Lee, on whose property the huge aircraft crashed.

V. Pres. Brings Kennedy Report

Finds Faith, Hope, Confidence Everywhere In Administration

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson returned from a 13,000-mile mission to Africa and Europe Friday with a report that U.S. representatives will work day and night to obtain a nuclear test ban agreement with Russia.

He said if such an agreement is not possible "it will not be the fault of the United States and the United Kingdom."

The vice president's Air Force jet transport landed at Andrews Air Force Base and Johnson, with key members of his party, flew at once by helicopter to the White House to report to President Kennedy on his week-long trip.

Johnson told reporters before boarding the helicopter that he had a very successful trip. His mission carried him to Senegal, Geneva and Paris, where Friday morning he conferred with Prime Minister Michel Debre.

Johnson and Debre conferred on the subjects to be discussed by Kennedy and President Charles de Gaulle when Kennedy flies to Paris May 31.

"Everywhere we went we found new hope and faith in the new administration," Johnson said.

He said the people of Puerto Rico, where his plane made a refueling stop, were "very appreciative of the President's position on the 'alliance for progress,'" Kennedy's program of aid for Latin America.

He said the Puerto Ricans were looking forward to making contributions to the program.

Johnson discussed at some length his Geneva visit, where Arthur H. Dean, chief U.S. delegate, is struggling to make some progress on a nuclear test ban agreement with the Russians.

The vice president said he found the "skilled and most able Dean making an earnest and fervent appeal for the Russians to stand by the position they took last fall."

The Soviets now are insisting on a veto power over an inspection system, a demand unacceptable to the West.

"We emphasized the President's intense interest in this meeting and his desire that every avenue be explored to find agreement,"

By RELMAN MORIN

When his watch ends another armed guard takes his place. So it will be around the clock until next Tuesday morning when Adolf Eichmann, for whom the cubicle was built, enters this special courtroom in Jerusalem and his trial begins.

Eichmann was Gestapo chief in charge of Jewish affairs in Nazi Germany during World War II. He will go on trial for "crimes against the Jewish people and crimes against humanity" under a law which carries the death penalty.

The bullet-proof glass cubicle and the armed guards occupying it 24 hours daily visibly illustrate the stringency of security measures the government and police are taking. For the man who is accused of complicity in the slaughter of six million Jews during the war probably would not live long without such protection.

It is impossible to describe the emotions aroused merely by his name in Israel. Nearly every family of Jews from Europe living in Israel lost one or more relatives in Nazi death camps.

Consequently the Beth Ha'am—community center—which has been converted into a huge courtroom resembles a supersecret military installation.

Soldiers are stationed on the roof. They look down on strong steel fences watching the streets and everyone who enters and leaves.

The city, however, appears calm.

Only a handful of Israelis watch the center from across the street. It is surrounded by homes and apartments but there are few curious faces in the windows.

Eichmann was brought to a cell in the building this week from the fortress prison near Djalameh, a village six miles east of Haifa.

Authorities disclosed he had been held at the prison since Israeli agents spirited him out of Argentina last May.

Laos King Urges Warring Factions To Talk Peace

By JOHN RODERICK

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—King Savang Vathana was reported Friday using a firm hand to bring Laos' warring factions to the peace table, probably April 28 at the state funeral for his father. One step was said to be a royal veto of a government proposal to ask for intervention by the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Sources close to the monarch said he hopes to get the contending sides together when the funeral of King Sisavang Vong is held in the royal capital of Luang Prabang. He is said to be willing to let Moscow-backed Prince Souvanna Phouma be returned as premier.

As a British-Soviet call for a cease-fire was awaited in this administrative capital, the maneuvering of Communist Pathet Lao rebels and the royal army continued.

Four Soviet transport planes dropped Pathet Lao paratroopers Thursday near royal army headquarters at Vang Vieng, 80 miles north of Vientiane, said the acting information minister, Tiao Sopsaisana. He said he did not know how many were dropped but the operation apparently was to counter an airdrop of royal troops into the area Wednesday, an operation that was reported to take the steam out of the rebel push on Vang Vieng.

Before the latest airdrop, the royal army reported it had pushed 20 miles north of Vang Vieng without opposition in a drive to clear the highway between Vientiane and Luang Prabang, 140 miles to the north.

Both sides were apparently trying to consolidate and gain new ground before a cease-fire freezes them to their positions.

Sources close to the king said he personally vetoed a week ago a step that might have touched off major hostilities over Laos. The foreign ministers of SEATO had just finished meeting in neighboring Bangkok, Thailand, and adopted a resolution to take appropriate action in Laos if necessary.

But the king was reported personally to have overruled a proposal by Premier Boun Oum's government to ask help from SEATO against the Pathet Lao. An informant said the king feared such a step would bring massive intervention from Red China and the Soviet Union.

Instead, he backed Britain's call for a cease-fire, to be followed by a 14-nation peace conference, and embarked on a plan to use the funeral of his father to bring the contending sides together.

King Sisavang died in 1959. As is the custom in Laos, the body was preserved for a state funeral later. Informants said the funeral might bring together Prince Souvanna, who fled into exile when forces loyal to Boun Oum seized Vientiane; Souvanna's half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the Pathet Lao; Boun Oum and his defense minister and military strong man, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan.

Women Voters Challenge 8th Congressional District

In Baltimore, Republican City Committee Chairman Samuel L. Hopkins said the group has adopted a resolution attacking the district, created by the 1961 General Assembly.

Earlier, Mrs. Robert E. Wolf, president of the Prince Georges County League of Women Voters, said she will ask her membership to join the drive in favor of putting the issue before the voters.

The Maryland Committee for Fair Representation, which seeks a more equitable apportionment in the State Legislature, indicated it will consider joining the movement when the group meets Wednesday.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Berthold Muecke Jr., president of the Baltimore County League of Women Voters, said her group, scheduled to meet the same day, also will take up the question.

The whole affair got under way in Montgomery County, where the women's voting unit is trying to obtain 10,000 signatures on a petition calling for a Statewide referendum on the issue.

The board of the statewide Maryland League of Women Voters has been pressing for action by local units, which have been asked to join the petition campaign.

Final action will come in May, when the state league holds its meeting.

The 8th Congressional District is the extra seat given to Maryland in the House of Representatives as a result of the 1960 census, showing an increased state population.

Court Denies Brady Motion For New Trial

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Judge O. Bowie Duckett of Anne Arundel Circuit Court Friday denied a motion for a new trial for John L. Brady, 29-year-old convicted murderer of William Brooks.

Brady and Charles D. Boblit were found guilty in separate trials of Brooks' slaying at Odenton June 28, 1958. They were sentenced to death.

Both later had appeals denied by the Maryland Court of Appeals.

In the motion denied Friday, Brady's attorneys alleged their client's constitutional rights were violated when the State's attorney failed to advise them of an unsigned statement by Boblit.

The attorneys said Boblit admitted choking Brooks.

Judge Duckett said "it is a matter of procedure as to whether the State's attorney is required to furnish the petitioner's attorney a confession of a third party."

Earlier motions by Brady's attorneys for a new trial and a reduction of sentence also were denied.

FBI Enters Hunt For Mack Fierst

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation Friday entered the search for Mack Wilson Fierst, 50, who escaped from Perkins State Hospital at Jessup early Wednesday.

FBI agents said the fugitive, who was serving a 20-year sentence for a 1948 payroll robbery, "would murder anyone who stands in his way."

The bureau said it has obtained a warrant charging Fierst with unlawful flight to avoid confinement.

Rowan Gaither Dies Of Cancer

BOSTON (UPI) —H. Rowan Gaither Jr., former president of the Ford Foundation and author of the controversial Gaither Report on the nation's defenses, died of cancer of the lungs Friday at Massachusetts General Hospital. He was 51.

Gaither died in his sleep at 2:35 p.m. EST, several hours after being admitted. Authorities said he had been a patient at the hospital intermittently for the past several months during periods of treatment.

Gaither was appointed by President Eisenhower to head a committee to survey the nation's defenses. The study was completed in 1957 but the report never was released, either to Congress or the public. Gaither was one of the few civilians who knew its contents.

"I believe it will remain a secret until it is obsolete, then it will no longer be news," Gaither said recently.

He is survived by his wife and two sons, H. Rowan Gaither III, a Stanford law school student, and James, who is in the Marine Corps.

Life Discovered In Meteorite

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Government scientists wonder if something they have found in a meteorite is a primitive form of life born millions of years ago millions of miles from the earth.

Whatever they found in the meteorite which landed near Murray, Ky., in 1950 seems to have come alive in their laboratory. They are sure only that the substance is something they did not put there.

It resembles primordial organisms found in rocky cores from deep holes drilled in the earth by man. These ancient organisms have been revived in nutrient cultures after lying dormant for millions of years.

Soviet Union Backs Off Her Congo Proposal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union backed away Friday from its previous formal demand that the United Nations end its Congo operations within a month.

The Russians also passed up a chance to call again for dismissal of U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, who challenged the U.N. General Assembly Wednesday to vote for his ouster if that was what the members wanted.

Neither idea was contained in a new Congo resolution that the Soviet delegation put before the 99-nation assembly. Both had been rejected in the Security Security Council Feb. 21, when a Soviet resolution wound up on the short end of an 8-1 vote.

The new resolution called for a meeting of the Congolese Parliament within 21 days under U.N. protection to insure the Congo's territorial integrity and political independence.

Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu has refused to reconvene Parliament ever since it tried to override his ouster of Premier Patrice Lumumba last September.

McCann Arrives In Philippines

CLARK AIR FORCE BASE, Philippines, Saturday (UPI) — Cancer-stricken Robert E. McCann, free after 10 years imprisonment in Communist China, rested at an American military hospital here today.

The 60-year-old former businessman arrived here from Hong Kong Friday afternoon aboard a special U. S. Air Force transport plane with his wife, Flora. She accompanied him on the long and painful journey out of Red China.

She said he is doomed to die within a few months.

There was no immediate indication when he may be strong enough to make the trip.

McCann was arrested by the Chinese Communists in 1951 and sentenced to 15 years imprisonment as a spy. The Communists said they released him for "humanitarian" reasons.

Eichmann Trial

Jerusalem, the authorities are taking every precaution to see he reaches that glass cubicle and has full opportunity to tell his story.

There is every indication it will be a long trial. Some authorities estimate it may last six months.

Although every word spoken will be translated simultaneously from Hebrew into English, French and German, the language problem could cause delays. Moreover, it seems certain intricate points in international law will have to be thrashed out during which periods the three-judge court may clear the courtroom.

Eichmann's chief defense counsel, Dr. Robert Servatius of West Germany, may try to challenge the validity of the trial on the ground Eichmann was kidnaped from Argentina.

Soviet Trying To Destroy UN

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dr. Francis O. Wilcox, who enraged Soviet Premier Krushchev at the United Nations last fall, said Friday the Soviet Union is exerting every effort to destroy the world organization.

Wilcox, former assistant secretary of state for international organization affairs, told students and faculty members of the Johns Hopkins University that Russia has done nothing to strengthen the world body.

He touched off the UN incident last year by making a statement about alleged Russian colonialism. Krushchev responded by pounding a table with his shoe.

"They cannot bear to have anyone tell the truth," Wilcox said at the university, in a reference to Soviet leaders.

"But we will continue to tell the truth," he went on, "and if the shoe fits, the Soviet delegate ought to put it on rather than pound the table with it."

Axis Sally To Be Freed

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Axis Sally," an aging traitor who turned to religion in prison, soon will be paroled.

The U. S. Parole Board announced Friday that white-haired Mildred Elizabeth Gillars, 60, will be freed July 10 from the Federal Woman's Reformatory at Alderson, W. Va. She will have completed 12 years of a 10- to 30-year treason sentence imposed in 1949 for serving Nazi Germany as a singing radio propagandist during World War II. She has arranged to work in a convent which was not identified.

Few of the thousands of U.S. soldiers who heard her nightly efforts to sow sedition and homesickness ever knew her real name. But they gave her the one that stuck—"Axis Sally."

Born Mildred E. Sisk in Portland, Maine, she went to Dresden, Germany, several years before the war to study music. She changed her name to Gillars and became a star of German radio. The Nazis used her moderately pleasing voice in special broadcasts to the American troops.

Rees Has 10 Days To File Court Appeal

Sentenced To Life In Kidnap-Murder

BALTIMORE (AP)—Melvin Davis Rees Jr., sentenced to life imprisonment for kidnap - murder, was back in City Jail Friday trying to decide whether to appeal his conviction.

The 32-year-old Hyattsville, Md., musician was given ten days in which to file an appeal.

Rees was convicted of the Virginia abduction of Mrs. Mildred Jackson and her 5-year-old daughter, Susan, whose bodies were found in Maryland two years ago.

The sentencing of Rees Thursday came after Chief U.S. District Court Judge Roszel C. Thomsen rejected a defense contention that a television program violated the defendant's rights.

The program was a re - enactment of deliberations by nine of the jurors who convicted Rees Feb. 23.

The life sentence was the maximum Judge Thomsen could impose. The jury did not recommend the death penalty.

Rees is charged in Spotsylvania County, Va., with killing two other members of the Apple Grove, Va., family, Carroll V. Jackson, and daughter Janet, 18 months.

T. Stokeley Coleman, Spotslvania County commonwealth's attorney, said he was not ready to reveal any of the plans for getting Rees to Virginia.

"It would be premature at this time for me to say what I plan to do," Coleman said.

who would tear down," he said. "Tearing down is so much easier than building.

"It is easy to organize a student riot but difficult to build a great university. It is easy to burn a warehouse but difficult to build a viable economy; easy to organize a disloyal group in an administration but difficult to organize a democratic government."

But the field of science makes natural allies of us all, Rusk said.

"It would be hard to find those who would rather be sick than healthy; or who would rather be ignorant than informed; or those who would not like to have some degree of the predictability of the rising sun," he said.

Marian Jordan, wry-voiced Molly of the long-running radio show, "Fibber McGee and Molly," died of cancer yesterday at her Encino, Calif., home. She would have been 63 on April 16. Her husband and co-star Jim Jordan and their two children were at her bedside. This is a 1955 photo. (AP Photofax)

Historian Given Nine Years In Pen

BALTIMORE (AP) — Floyd A. Jorstad, who said he came here from Casper, Wyoming, because of his interest in Maryland-Virginia history, received a nine-year penitentiary sentence Friday for robbing a branch of the Baltimore National Bank.

The 34-year-old defendant pleaded guilty before Judge Dulany Foster in Criminal Court. He told the court he arrived in Baltimore two days before the robbery, which netted him $2,863—briefly.

Rowan Gaither Dies Of Cancer

BOSTON (UPI) —H. Rowan Gaither Jr., former president of the Ford Foundation and author of the controversial Gaither Report on the nation's defenses, died of cancer of the lungs Friday at Massachusetts General Hospital. He was 51.

Gaither died in his sleep at 2:35 p.m. EST, several hours after being admitted. Authorities said he had been a patient at the hospital intermittently for the past several months during periods of treatment.

Gaither was appointed by President Eisenhower to head a committee to survey the nation's defenses. The study was completed in 1957 but the report never was released, either to Congress or the public. Gaither was one of the few civilians who knew its contents.

"I believe it will remain a secret until it is obsolete, then it will no longer be news," Gaither said recently.

He is survived by his wife and two sons, H. Rowan Gaither III, a Stanford law school student, and James, who is in the Marine Corps.

Life Discovered In Meteorite

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Government scientists wonder if something they have found in a meteorite is a primitive form of life born millions of years ago millions of miles from the earth.

Whatever they found in the meteorite which landed near Murray, Ky., in 1950 seems to have come alive in their laboratory. They are sure only that the substance is something they did not put there.

It resembles primordial organisms found in rocky cores from deep holes drilled in the earth by man. These ancient organisms have been revived in nutrient cultures after lying dormant for millions of years.

Soviet Union Backs Off Her Congo Proposal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union backed away Friday from its previous formal demand that the United Nations end its Congo operations within a month.

The Russians also passed up a chance to call again for dismissal of U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, who challenged the U.N. General Assembly Wednesday to vote for his ouster if that was what the members wanted.

Neither idea was contained in a new Congo resolution that the Soviet delegation put before the 99-nation assembly. Both had been rejected in the Security Security Council Feb. 21, when a Soviet resolution wound up on the short end of an 8-1 vote.

The new resolution called for a meeting of the Congolese Parliament within 21 days under U.N. protection to insure the Congo's territorial integrity and political independence.

Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu has refused to reconvene Parliament ever since it tried to override his ouster of Premier Patrice Lumumba last September.

McCann Arrives In Philippines

CLARK AIR FORCE BASE, Philippines, Saturday (UPI) — Cancer-stricken Robert E. McCann, free after 10 years imprisonment in Communist China, rested at an American military hospital here today.

The 60-year-old former businessman arrived here from Hong Kong Friday afternoon aboard a special U. S. Air Force transport plane with his wife, Flora. She accompanied him on the long and painful journey out of Red China.

She said he is doomed to die within a few months.

There was no immediate indication when he may be strong enough to make the trip.

McCann was arrested by the Chinese Communists in 1951 and sentenced to 15 years imprisonment as a spy. The Communists said they released him for "humanitarian" reasons.

Jerusalem, the authorities are taking every precaution to see he reaches that glass cubicle and has full opportunity to tell his story.

There is every indication it will be a long trial. Some authorities estimate it may last six months.

Although every word spoken will be translated simultaneously from Hebrew into English, French and German, the language problem could cause delays. Moreover, it seems certain intricate points in international law will have to be thrashed out during which periods the three-judge court may clear the courtroom.

Eichmann's chief defense counsel, Dr. Robert Servatius of West Germany, may try to challenge the validity of the trial on the ground Eichmann was kidnaped from Argentina.

Soviet Trying To Destroy UN

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dr. Francis O. Wilcox, who enraged Soviet Premier Krushchev at the United Nations last fall, said Friday the Soviet Union is exerting every effort to destroy the world organization.

Wilcox, former assistant secretary of state for international organization affairs, told students and faculty members of the Johns Hopkins University that Russia has done nothing to strengthen the world body.

He touched off the UN incident last year by making a statement about alleged Russian colonialism. Krushchev responded by pounding a table with his shoe.

"They cannot bear to have anyone tell the truth," Wilcox said at the university, in a reference to Soviet leaders.

"But we will continue to tell the truth," he went on, "and if the shoe fits, the Soviet delegate ought to put it on rather than pound the table with it."

Axis Sally To Be Freed

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Axis Sally," an aging traitor who turned to religion in prison, soon will be paroled.

The U. S. Parole Board announced Friday that white-haired Mildred Elizabeth Gillars, 60, will be freed July 10 from the Federal Woman's Reformatory at Alderson, W. Va. She will have completed 12 years of a 10- to 30-year treason sentence imposed in 1949 for serving Nazi Germany as a singing radio propagandist during World War II. She has arranged to work in a convent which was not identified.

Few of the thousands of U.S. soldiers who heard her nightly efforts to sow sedition and homesickness ever knew her real name. But they gave her the one that stuck—"Axis Sally."

Born Mildred E. Sisk in Portland, Maine, she went to Dresden, Germany, several years before the war to study music. She changed her name to Gillars and became a star of German radio. The Nazis used her moderately pleasing voice in special broadcasts to the American troops.

Rees Has 10 Days To File Court Appeal

Sentenced To Life In Kidnap-Murder

BALTIMORE (AP)—Melvin Davis Rees Jr., sentenced to life imprisonment for kidnap - murder, was back in City Jail Friday trying to decide whether to appeal his conviction.

The 32-year-old Hyattsville, Md., musician was given ten days in which to file an appeal.

Rees was convicted of the Virginia abduction of Mrs. Mildred Jackson and her 5-year-old daughter, Susan, whose bodies were found in Maryland two years ago.

The sentencing of Rees Thursday came after Chief U.S. District Court Judge Roszel C. Thomsen rejected a defense contention that a television program violated the defendant's rights.

The program was a re - enactment of deliberations by nine of the jurors who convicted Rees Feb. 23.

The life sentence was the maximum Judge Thomsen could impose. The jury did not recommend the death penalty.

Rees is charged in Spotsylvania County, Va., with killing two other members of the Apple Grove, Va., family, Carroll V. Jackson, and daughter Janet, 18 months.

T. Stokeley Coleman, Spotslvania County commonwealth's attorney, said he was not ready to reveal any of the plans for getting Rees to Virginia.

"It would be premature at this time for me to say what I plan to do," Coleman said.

who would tear down," he said. "Tearing down is so much easier than building.

"It is easy to organize a student riot but difficult to build a great university. It is easy to burn a warehouse but difficult to build a viable economy; easy to organize a disloyal group in an administration but difficult to organize a democratic government."

But the field of science makes natural allies of us all, Rusk said.

"It would be hard to find those who would rather be sick than healthy; or who would rather be ignorant than informed; or those who would not like to have some degree of the predictability of the rising sun," he said.

Historian Given Nine Years In Pen

BALTIMORE (AP) — Floyd A. Jorstad, who said he came here from Casper, Wyoming, because of his interest in Maryland-Virginia history, received a nine-year penitentiary sentence Friday for robbing a branch of the Baltimore National Bank.

The 34-year-old defendant pleaded guilty before Judge Dulany Foster in Criminal Court. He told the court he arrived in Baltimore two days before the robbery, which netted him $2,863—briefly.

Dist. 1 Nurses Foundation To Sponsor Dance April 22

Mrs. Harriett Boore has been named chairman of District 1, Maryland State Nurses Association, for the "American Nurses Foundation" campaign. Following a discussion and sponsoring of the project at the district meeting it was decided to entertain with a dance to help raise the funds for the District 1 quota of $1,000 as its part of Maryland's $25,000. The national drive is for one million.

Created in 1955, the American Nurses' Foundation is a national center for research in nursing. It receives and administers funds for research and for special educational and service projects; it awards research grants to other qualified, non-profit, tax-exempt institutions, such as hospitals, public health agencies, colleges and universities.

The nurses themselves provide most of the funds from a portion of their membership dues. In the last five years the studies completed included public health nursing in the home; family and patient adjustment to crisis of cardiac disease; exchange visitor nurse project; and assistance to Hungarian refugee nurses to prepare for licensure and practice in the United States.

With the slogan, "Better Health Care Through Research in Nursing," future projects include nursing role in the care and protection of critically ill patients, whose lives are prolonged by modern medicine; ways to raise standards of nursing homes caring for chronically ill and senile patients; how office nurses can play a greater care in patient care; methods whereby physicians and nurses together can assure the public of full benefits of medical knowledge and nursing procedures; how nurses can bring a sense of well-being and usefulness to persons confined with catastrophic illnesses; and with field consultation, seminars and workshops.

The committee assisting Mrs. Boore consists of Mrs. Lucille Martin, Mrs. Kay Pellerzi, Mrs. Rebecca Hughes, Mrs. Wilhemina Shockey and Mrs. Colleen Lapp. The Frostburg area will be represented by Mrs. Anna Marie Michaels, chairman; with Mrs. Dorothy Miller and Mrs. Mildred Seifert assisting.

Garrett County will name its committee later.

A dance will be sponsored by the group. It is to be held April 22 at the Ali Ghan Country Club. Music will be by the Cavaliers from 9 until 1 o'clock.

Mrs. Martin is dance chairman. Her committee consists of Mrs. Francis Miller, Mrs. Grace Moore, Mrs. Ruth Webster, Mrs. Juanita Nightengale, Miss Jeanne Dauphin and Miss Martha Lee Heron.

Tickets may be secured from any committee member at either Memorial or Sacred Heart Hospital or the public health nurses.

Adolf Eichmann "Symbol Of Christian Failure," Some Religious Leaders Say

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

Only one human being will be in the dock. But in the eyes of many religious leaders, so will humanity.

They see the trial of Adolf Eichmann, scheduled to begin next week in Israel, as pointing up a stark and universal moral lesson: The evil residing in the depth of human nature.

The facts brought out "will have a cathartic effect upon the conscience of mankind," says theologian Reinhold Niebuhr, of Union Seminary.

"It will remind the whole world of a chapter in German and also in human history that we would all like to forget."

On that general point, psychiatrist Karl Menninger recently spoke of a widespread American "tendency to deny evil, to deny its presence in ourselves."

Although it is Eichmann who stands accused as the Nazi slaughterer of millions of Jews, some religious spokesmen say the guilt was not his alone, nor wholly that of the Nazis.

"Adolf Eichmann is a symbol of Christian failure," says the Rev. Donald W. McKinney of Brooklyn. Other countries merely "waited and watched" as Hitler began his anti-Semitic program in the 1930s, the Rev. Mr. McKinney says.

"If only by its silence, the rest of the world gave its permission," he added. "It didn't care."

The American Jewish Committee, in a comprehensive analysis of the Eichmann case, says it "should make us confront . . . the meaning of hatred and totalitarianism, our own relations to these evils, and their continued presence in our modern world."

The study notes that in World War II the Nazis, through Eichmann and others, offered to trade Jewish lives for supplies and other military advantages, but these "offers were rejected" by the Allies.

"People who might have been saved were murdered," it adds. "Obviously, the Nazis were the murderers, not the Allies. Yet were all completely guiltless?"

Dr. Neibuhr, writing in Christianity and Crisis, says the trial concerns not just an individual, but "a collective crime, involving a whole corrupt government of a nation that had left all norms of humanity."

The case has aroused a maze of international questions. Some religious leaders and others have questioned Israel's jurisdiction, and the action of its agents in abducting Eichmann from Argentina where they caught him.

The American Council of Judaism and its president, Clarence L. Coleman Jr., of Chicago, have been among the strongest critics. Coleman assails what he terms "Israel's conception of itself as the representatives of all Jews" in the case.

He says Israel lacks legal rights to try Eichmann.

Commenting on these and other points, the American Jewish Committee notes that no other country or group of countries has asked to try him.

It adds: "Every independent state has in international law jurisdiction to punish pirates and war criminals in its custody regardless of the nationality of the victims or the place where the offense was committed."

The Nazi program for the "destruction of human life," the study says, "was unprecedented. In other ruthless slaughters in history, the killing has been to achieve some purpose, such as victory, and the victims could save themselves by surrender.

"But Nazi genocide was an end in itself, not a means. . . . A bureaucratic, technological spirit but planning, research and administration at the service of depravity. . . . These same tendencies can be found today in many parts of the world."

At least 90 per cent of the country's schools provide rhythm band training in kindergarten and primary grades.

What is home? A blend of memories and mortar . . . walls and roof and smells of breakfast cooking . . . a place of rest at the end of day . . . a feeling of possession, of belonging . . . a place of hates, loves, anger . . . the center of things living.

Home may be a mansion on a hill, a cramped apartment, a farmhouse, a hovel, a new suburban split-level, the house Father built . . . but only to you and your family is it home. No one else may call it that. For home is a part of you!

Centuries ago a shepherd-poet felt this. Weary, lonely seasons on the grazing slopes had taught him to love . . . to long for . . . HOME.

But he realized that, through this life and beyond, the nearness of God is part of the sense of home. Goodness and mercy would follow him all the days of his life. And he would dwell in the house of the Lord forever!

Give the Church and its Truth a place in your home. And God's presence will give eternal meaning to that home.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

Only one human being will be in the dock. But in the eyes of many religious leaders, so will humanity.

They see the trial of Adolf Eichmann, scheduled to begin next week in Israel, as pointing up a stark and universal moral lesson: The evil residing in the depth of human nature.

The facts brought out "will have a cathartic effect upon the conscience of mankind," says theologian Reinhold Niebuhr, of Union Seminary.

"It will remind the whole world of a chapter in German and also in human history that we would all like to forget."

On that general point, psychiatrist Karl Menninger recently spoke of a widespread American "tendency to deny evil, to deny its presence in ourselves."

Although it is Eichmann who stands accused as the Nazi slaughterer of millions of Jews, some religious spokesmen say the guilt was not his alone, nor wholly that of the Nazis.

"Adolf Eichmann is a symbol of Christian failure," says the Rev. Donald W. McKinney of Brooklyn. Other countries merely "waited and watched" as Hitler began his anti-Semitic program in the 1930s, the Rev. Mr. McKinney says.

"If only by its silence, the rest of the world gave its permission," he added. "It didn't care."

The American Jewish Committee, in a comprehensive analysis of the Eichmann case, says it "should make us confront . . . the meaning of hatred and totalitarianism, our own relations to these evils, and their continued presence in our modern world."

The study notes that in World War II the Nazis, through Eichmann and others, offered to trade Jewish lives for supplies and other military advantages, but these "offers were rejected" by the Allies.

"People who might have been saved were murdered," it adds. "Obviously, the Nazis were the murderers, not the Allies. Yet were all completely guiltless?"

Dr. Neibuhr, writing in Christianity and Crisis, says the trial concerns not just an individual, but "a collective crime, involving a whole corrupt government of a nation that had left all norms of humanity."

The case has aroused a maze of international questions. Some religious leaders and others have questioned Israel's jurisdiction, and the action of its agents in abducting Eichmann from Argentina where they caught him.

The American Council of Judaism and its president, Clarence L. Coleman Jr., of Chicago, have been among the strongest critics. Coleman assails what he terms "Israel's conception of itself as the representatives of all Jews" in the case.

He says Israel lacks legal rights to try Eichmann.

Commenting on these and other points, the American Jewish Committee notes that no other country or group of countries has asked to try him.

It adds: "Every independent state has in international law jurisdiction to punish pirates and war criminals in its custody regardless of the nationality of the victims or the place where the offense was committed."

The Nazi program for the "destruction of human life," the study says, "was unprecedented. In other ruthless slaughters in history, the killing has been to achieve some purpose, such as victory, and the victims could save themselves by surrender.

"But Nazi genocide was an end in itself, not a means. . . . A bureaucratic, technological spirit but planning, research and administration at the service of depravity. . . . These same tendencies can be found today in many parts of the world."

At least 90 per cent of the country's schools provide rhythm band training in kindergarten and primary grades.

What is home? A blend of memories and mortar . . . walls and roof and smells of breakfast cooking . . . a place of rest at the end of day . . . a feeling of possession, of belonging . . . a place of hates, loves, anger . . . the center of things living.

Home may be a mansion on a hill, a cramped apartment, a farmhouse, a hovel, a new suburban split-level, the house Father built . . . but only to you and your family is it home. No one else may call it that. For home is a part of you!

Centuries ago a shepherd-poet felt this. Weary, lonely seasons on the grazing slopes had taught him to love . . . to long for . . . HOME.

But he realized that, through this life and beyond, the nearness of God is part of the sense of home. Goodness and mercy would follow him all the days of his life. And he would dwell in the house of the Lord forever!

Give the Church and its Truth a place in your home. And God's presence will give eternal meaning to that home.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Group Requests Support For TB Hospital

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners was requested yesterday by the Sabillasville Civic Association to give support to a campaign for the retention of the Victor Cullen Hospital in that community.

It was stated in a letter to the local commissioners that the state plans to abandon the hospital, which has been in operation for many years for the treatment of tubercular patients, and use the property for a state training school for delinquent boys.

The Allegany County commissioners took no action in the matter as they said they were not fully acquainted with the proposal.

The Sabillasville group said there are 90 persons employed at the hospital who would be out of jobs or else would have to transfer elsewhere. It was also pointed out that property values in the community would suffer, the surrounding mountains would be a temptation for the inmates of the training school to escape, and it would move the hospital even farther away from residents of Western Maryland who have members of their families as patients at the hospital.

One main reason why the group is against the proposal is that it would eliminate the hospital as a memorial to Dr. Cullen, who headed the institution for many years prior to his death some years ago.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — I have often wondered why pretty blonde Joan Benny wasn't in motion pictures or television. Now her father, that gentleman from Waukegan, is giving Joanie an opportunity to be seen on his show. Ever since Mary Livingstone's retirement, Jack has been looking for the script he feels would be right for his daughter.

She'll have the role of secretary in the Beverly Hills police department—Jackson's comedy version of our very efficient P.D. is piped in mood music, French poodles (instead of bloodhounds) and a really dreamed up spot. Joanie's sequence has already been filmed and will be seen in October. Jack hopes she will now become a regular on his show appearing eight or 10 times next year.

She is now in New York with Jack and Mary, and how about Jack getting all those wonderful rave notices for his violin playing? He'd rather have that money any day.

Jimmy Shigeta is one heck of an actor but he's not such a good agent. He tried to persuade Ross Hunter to hire his Tokyo girl friend, Kaszuko Ichakawa, who is known as the Debbie Reynolds of Japan. Jimmy wanted Kaszuko to get the small but important role of a wall flower at a Chinese party in "Flower Drum Song," but Ross decided she was too pretty.

However, Jimmy wasn't unhappy long because he is the one who will sing the only new number added to the beautiful "Flower Drum Song" score, with music and lyrics by Richards Rodgers himself and called "This Isn't Heaven."

A husky-voiced Dean Jones telephoned me from New York to say that his throat finally gave out from appearing on the stage every night in "Yum Yum Tree," as well as singing at the Blue Angel nightclub.

"So I'm taking a night off from both places," Dean said. "The reason I called, however, is not to complain about my laryngitis, but to tell you I have just signed a contract to open at the Hollywood Bowl Sept. 2, and I want you to promise you'll be there."

"Your invitation sounds good, and I appreciate it, but I just can't make engagements that far ahead," I told him. "I just may be in Hong Kong, Alaska, or even Honduras."

The eldest daughter of Maureen O'Sullivan and John Farrow, my god-daughter Mia, is a raving beauty. Not only is she one of the most beautiful girls I have ever seen, but she has a fine character. Mia has been appointed president of the Marymount entertainment committee for their annual prom to be held tomorrow night.

She tells me that in the past the school has been honored by getting celebrities and stars, and this year they were able to get James Garner. "We are so grateful to him for giving up his Saturday evening. And dear Aunt Louella," Mia adds, "I am giving you this scoop!"

With all the tales, true or untrue, circulating about Frank Sinatra's battle with Desi Arnaz and the ever present crop of ladies in and out of his life—it's extraordinary how this complex "character" tries to hide the nice things he does. Latest example—Frank goes to Mexico City April 18 through the 20th to play four benefits for the Mexico rehabilitation center.

As usual, he's appearing for nothing and is assuming the bill for the entire show he's bringing along, including 30 musicians and conductor Nelson Riddle. The rehabilitation center is for treatment and therapy for people disabled through injury and illness who have lost limbs.

All the mixed-up young men from the Beatniks to the "angry" variety could take heart from Lon McCallister's recipe for "finding himself". For almost 9 years (It doesn't seem nearly so long since he was an up-and-coming star) Lon has been away from Hollywood. "This last decade has been one of endless retreat for me—I have wandered across the deserts of North Africa, climbed the Andes, sledded in the Arctic Circle, roamed Western Europe and established a second home in London where I've lived since 1958. More important—I have observed myself as well as the world—and come to terms with both.

"Now, once again, I am capable of contributing something to life. I am working on the final draft of my first novel at Malibu—the title is 'Lights—Camera—Murder!' And yes, I've even gone back to acting."

Dues Payment Approved By Board

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday approved payment of the annual dues of the board in the State Association of County Commissioners of Maryland.

Dues for the county are $535 and are based on populations of the various member counties. Funds derived are used in connection with payment of the salary of an executive secretary of the organization.

MRS. GEORGE M. YOUNG

Mrs. Young Endorsed For School Board

The Democratic State Central Committee for Allegany County has sent an endorsement to Gov. Tawes for the appointment of Mrs. George M. Young, 744 Washington Street, to become a member of the Allegany County Board of Education.

She would replace Mrs. Albert C. Cook, Frostburg, who has indicated she would like to be relieved of the duties of serving on the Board of Education.

Mrs. Cook will be completing her second five-year term, having been appointed in June 1951 when the board was increased from three to five members. She was renamed for another five years in June 1956.

The appointee has to be a member of the Republican Party and also a woman. Mrs. Young is a registered Republican.

Mrs. Young is the former Wilton Jenkins, of Frostburg, and has been active in civic and club affairs in the county for some years.

Mrs. Young attended Beall High School in Frostburg and graduated from the University of Wisconsin. She taught briefly at Allegany High School and at Frostburg State Teachers College.

She is a past state treasurer of the American Association of University Women, a member of the executive committee of the County United Fund, chairman of the direct services committee of the Health, Research and Service Foundation of the CUF, a member of the Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, a member of the Mt. Royal School PTA, a member of the Cumberland Country Club, Centre Street Methodist Church, Woman's Civic Club, and Cumberland Republican Women's Club.

She is married to George McA. Young, local businessman, and they have a son, George G. Young II, a pupil in the third grade at Mt. Royal School.

Meeting Of County Boards Scheduled

The quarterly meeting of the county commissioners of the five-county unit in Western Maryland will be held April 26 in Frederick.

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners will attend the session. Other counties in the group are Garrett, Washington, and Carroll.

Re-enlists In Navy

Glen F. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob T. Miller, Lonaconing, has re-enlisted in the Navy at the local recruiting station.

He has four years prior service and has been sent to the Navy Receiving Station at Washington for assignment.

Approximately 50 per cent of the British regular army is serving overseas.

City Street Cleaning Plan Said Success

The Street Department yesterday called its experimental street cleaning program a "tremendous success" because of the cooperation of the public and said it will continue until further notice.

The plan was started last Tuesday on certain streets and the public was asked to take parked cars from the streets during designated hours.

On Centre and Mechanic streets, for example, the sweeper encountered only 13 cars when the areas were cleaned, first on the right side, then on the left the following day.

Cooperation on Grand and Arch streets also was exceptional, Valentine said.

On Columbia Street, which the sweeper had been unable to clean for years, only five cars were parked the first time and then just one the second time, Valentine said. At lease three residents of the street have called to thank the department for a good job, Valentine added.

Monday, the sweeper will be on Park Street between Williams Street and Baltimore Avenue and residents are asked to park their cars elsewhere between the hours of 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The schedule for the remainder of the week will be the same as this week's. It is as follows:

TUESDAY — 7 to 9 a.m. — Right side of Mechanic Street and Centre Street from the Narrows bridge to Bedford Street. No parking is requested on the right side. 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. — Grand Avenue and Arch Street.

WEDNESDAY — 7 to 9 a.m. — Left side of Centre Street and Mechanic Street. No parking is requested on the left side. 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. — Columbia Street, Walnut Street and Independence Street.

FRIDAY — 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. — Right side of Decatur Street from Baltimore Avenue to Bedford Street.

Yesterday, the department flushed Baltimore Street between the railroads during the hours of 5 a. m. and 7 a. m.

Street Commissioner John J. Long said the experiment was undertaken as a result of the cooperation given the department in its snow removal program.

"Once again, the people have cooperated with us and I wish to thank them and our men for a good job," he said.

League Receives 80 'Lucky Bucks'

Eighty "Lucky Bucks" were received yesterday by the Allegany County League For Crippled Children to be applied to its annual Easter Seal Sale fund.

That brings the total to $8,700 as the league strives to meet the same amount raised a year ago—$10,000.

The "Lucky Bucks" phase of the campaign — dollars contributed help a person's luck — will continue for a few days.

Those who have Seals and not contributed or those wishing to contribute should send them to the league in City Hall Plaza.

Eggs have the same kind of high quality protein found in meat and milk.

DANIEL F. McMULLEN Jr.

Former Local Resident Gets Federal Post

Daniel F. McMullen Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel F. McMullen, 826 Buckingham Road, this city, Thursday was appointed assistant U. S. attorney for Maryland, by Joseph D. Tydings, U. S. attorney for Maryland.

Mr. McMullen was sworn into office in U. S. Court for Maryland in Baltimore.

He received his early education at St. Patrick's Parochial School here and attended Cranwell Preparatory School in Lenox, Mass., where he graduated in 1948.

The new assistant U. S. attorney received his bachelor of arts from Georgetown University, in 1952. While at Georgetown, he was a member of the Reserve Officers Training Corps and upon graduation was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force.

He served two years with the Strategic Air Command in this country, England and Africa and was separated from the service in August 1954 as a first lieutenant.

Mr. McMullen entered the University of Maryland Law School in 1954 and received his bachelor of laws degree in June 1957.

In November 1957, he entered the Civil Division of the Department of Justice in Washington where he served until his resignation March 31 to accept the new appointment.

Tydings said one of McMullen's first assignments would be handling a pending land condemnation case involving Andrews Air Force Base near Washington, one of the largest condemnation cases ever brought in Maryland.

Pension Approved For Retired Teacher

An application for a supplemental pension of $40 per month for Miss Theresa B. Nicht, Frostburg, a teacher in the county school system for 32 years, has been approved by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Miss Nicht retired as of April 1. Besides Social Security and regular pensions all school teachers are paid the supplemental pension by the county.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 16 and I want a boy friend more than anything in the world. I'm having no luck whatever and I don't know why. I know girls who don't have half of my good qualities and they seem to do much better. I have listed an honest description of myself and would like you to tell me what is wrong:

1. I am cute.
2. I act nice to everyone — especially boys.
3. I am not fat.
4. I keep myself very neat and clean.
5. My clothes are not cheap and they look good on me.
6. I don't wear much make-up.
7. I talk in low tones and act lady-like.
8. I live in a beautiful home and my parents are considered social.
9. I am a fairly good student and take part in school activities.
10. I am not conceited.

I need your help with my problem.—UNSUCCESSFUL

DEAR UNSUCCESSFUL: The key to your problem can be found in the first word of every sentence in your letter.

When you think less about "I" and more about "U" your problem will be solved.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You keep saying alcoholism is a sickness which results from emotional problems. Well, I don't buy it. It's strictly hereditary. Furthermore I see plenty of evidence in my husband's family which proves I am right.

I married a boozer from 'way back. His two brothers are almost as bad as he is, and his sister has martinis for breakfast. My father-in-law died seeing snakes, and his wife was a Grade A lush. If you can tell me how it happened that the whole family picked up the same "sickness" I'll apologize.—SICK OF DRUNKS.

DEAR SICK: Alcoholism has been studied by experts and there are a variety of theories on what causes excessive drinking. Alcoholism is NOT inherited in the way that blue eyes or curly hair is inherited. A tendency toward it may be in the family, however, as is the tendency toward diabetes or T.B.

In the case of your relatives the whole crowd has emotional problems they can't handle and they all chose the same escape route. But they were not born lushes as you insist.

DEAR ANN: I am happily married and we have two teen-age children. My husband has a fine job and makes enough money to take care of us. I happen to hate housework and am bored to tears at home because there's not enough to do, so—I took an office job which I love. I hire a cleaning woman and laundress two days a week which is ample.

My husband feels I should be home when the children come from school. I'm usually in the house by 5:45 but he says teenagers should not be allowed the free run of the place from 3:30 till almost 6.

What is your opinion?—MRS. S.

DEAR MRS. S.: If your husband wants you to be at home when the children come from school—be there. Since housework bores you it's fine that you have an office job, but work part-time only. Many husbands do not share his point of view, but since he has strong feelings, respect his wishes.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — I have often wondered why pretty blonde Joan Benny wasn't in motion pictures or television. Now her father, that gentleman from Waukegan, is giving Joanie an opportunity to be seen on his show. Ever since Mary Livingstone's retirement, Jack has been looking for the script he feels would be right for his daughter.

She'll have the role of secretary in the Beverly Hills police department—Jackson's comedy version of our very efficient P.D. is piped in mood music, French poodles (instead of bloodhounds) and a really dreamed up spot. Joanie's sequence has already been filmed and will be seen in October. Jack hopes she will now become a regular on his show appearing eight or 10 times next year.

She is now in New York with Jack and Mary, and how about Jack getting all those wonderful rave notices for his violin playing? He'd rather have that money any day.

Jimmy Shigeta is one heck of an actor but he's not such a good agent. He tried to persuade Ross Hunter to hire his Tokyo girl friend, Kaszuko Ichakawa, who is known as the Debbie Reynolds of Japan. Jimmy wanted Kaszuko to get the small but important role of a wall flower at a Chinese party in "Flower Drum Song," but Ross decided she was too pretty.

However, Jimmy wasn't unhappy long because he is the one who will sing the only new number added to the beautiful "Flower Drum Song" score, with music and lyrics by Richards Rodgers himself and called "This Isn't Heaven."

A husky-voiced Dean Jones telephoned me from New York to say that his throat finally gave out from appearing on the stage every night in "Yum Yum Tree," as well as singing at the Blue Angel nightclub.

"So I'm taking a night off from both places," Dean said. "The reason I called, however, is not to complain about my laryngitis, but to tell you I have just signed a contract to open at the Hollywood Bowl Sept. 2, and I want you to promise you'll be there."

"Your invitation sounds good, and I appreciate it, but I just can't make engagements that far ahead," I told him. "I just may be in Hong Kong, Alaska, or even Honduras."

The eldest daughter of Maureen O'Sullivan and John Farrow, my god-daughter Mia, is a raving beauty. Not only is she one of the most beautiful girls I have ever seen, but she has a fine character. Mia has been appointed president of the Marymount entertainment committee for their annual prom to be held tomorrow night.

She tells me that in the past the school has been honored by getting celebrities and stars, and this year they were able to get James Garner. "We are so grateful to him for giving up his Saturday evening. And dear Aunt Louella," Mia adds, "I am giving you this scoop!"

With all the tales, true or untrue, circulating about Frank Sinatra's battle with Desi Arnaz and the ever present crop of ladies in and out of his life—it's extraordinary how this complex "character" tries to hide the nice things he does. Latest example—Frank goes to Mexico City April 18 through the 20th to play four benefits for the Mexico rehabilitation center.

As usual, he's appearing for nothing and is assuming the bill for the entire show he's bringing along, including 30 musicians and conductor Nelson Riddle. The rehabilitation center is for treatment and therapy for people disabled through injury and illness who have lost limbs.

All the mixed-up young men from the Beatniks to the "angry" variety could take heart from Lon McCallister's recipe for "finding himself". For almost 9 years (It doesn't seem nearly so long since he was an up-and-coming star) Lon has been away from Hollywood. "This last decade has been one of endless retreat for me—I have wandered across the deserts of North Africa, climbed the Andes, sledded in the Arctic Circle, roamed Western Europe and established a second home in London where I've lived since 1958. More important—I have observed myself as well as the world—and come to terms with both.

"Now, once again, I am capable of contributing something to life. I am working on the final draft of my first novel at Malibu—the title is 'Lights—Camera—Murder!' And yes, I've even gone back to acting."

Dues Payment Approved By Board

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday approved payment of the annual dues of the board in the State Association of County Commissioners of Maryland.

MRS. GEORGE M. YOUNG

Mrs. Young Endorsed For School Board

The Democratic State Central Committee for Allegany County has sent an endorsement to Gov. Tawes for the appointment of Mrs. George M. Young, 744 Washington Street, to become a member of the Allegany County Board of Education.

She would replace Mrs. Albert C. Cook, Frostburg, who has indicated she would like to be relieved of the duties of serving on the Board of Education.

Mrs. Cook will be completing her second five-year term, having been appointed in June 1951 when the board was increased from three to five members. She was renamed for another five years in June 1956.

The appointee has to be a member of the Republican Party and also a woman. Mrs. Young is a registered Republican.

Mrs. Young is the former Wilton Jenkins, of Frostburg, and has been active in civic and club affairs in the county for some years.

Mrs. Young attended Beall High School in Frostburg and graduated from the University of Wisconsin. She taught briefly at Allegany High School and at Frostburg State Teachers College.

She is a past state treasurer of the American Association of University Women, a member of the executive committee of the County United Fund, chairman of the direct services committee of the Health, Research and Service Foundation of the CUF, a member of the Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, a member of the Mt. Royal School PTA, a member of the Cumberland Country Club, Centre Street Methodist Church, Woman's Civic Club, and Cumberland Republican Women's Club.

She is married to George McA. Young, local businessman, and they have a son, George G. Young II, a pupil in the third grade at Mt. Royal School.

Meeting Of County Boards Scheduled

The quarterly meeting of the county commissioners of the five-county unit in Western Maryland will be held April 26 in Frederick.

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners will attend the session. Other counties in the group are Garrett, Washington, and Carroll.

Re-enlists In Navy

Glen F. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob T. Miller, Lonaconing, has re-enlisted in the Navy at the local recruiting station.

He has four years prior service and has been sent to the Navy Receiving Station at Washington for assignment.

Approximately 50 per cent of the British regular army is serving overseas.

City Street Cleaning Plan Said Success

The Street Department yesterday called its experimental street cleaning program a "tremendous success" because of the cooperation of the public and said it will continue until further notice.

The plan was started last Tuesday on certain streets and the public was asked to take parked cars from the streets during designated hours.

On Centre and Mechanic streets, for example, the sweeper encountered only 13 cars when the areas were cleaned, first on the right side, then on the left the following day.

Cooperation on Grand and Arch streets also was exceptional, Valentine said.

On Columbia Street, which the sweeper had been unable to clean for years, only five cars were parked the first time and then just one the second time, Valentine said. At lease three residents of the street have called to thank the department for a good job, Valentine added.

Monday, the sweeper will be on Park Street between Williams Street and Baltimore Avenue and residents are asked to park their cars elsewhere between the hours of 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The schedule for the remainder of the week will be the same as this week's. It is as follows:

TUESDAY — 7 to 9 a.m. — Right side of Mechanic Street and Centre Street from the Narrows bridge to Bedford Street. No parking is requested on the right side. 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. — Grand Avenue and Arch Street.

WEDNESDAY — 7 to 9 a.m. — Left side of Centre Street and Mechanic Street. No parking is requested on the left side. 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. — Columbia Street, Walnut Street and Independence Street.

FRIDAY — 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. — Right side of Decatur Street from Baltimore Avenue to Bedford Street.

Yesterday, the department flushed Baltimore Street between the railroads during the hours of 5 a. m. and 7 a. m.

Street Commissioner John J. Long said the experiment was undertaken as a result of the cooperation given the department in its snow removal program.

"Once again, the people have cooperated with us and I wish to thank them and our men for a good job," he said.

League Receives 80 'Lucky Bucks'

Eighty "Lucky Bucks" were received yesterday by the Allegany County League For Crippled Children to be applied to its annual Easter Seal Sale fund.

That brings the total to $8,700 as the league strives to meet the same amount raised a year ago—$10,000.

The "Lucky Bucks" phase of the campaign — dollars contributed help a person's luck — will continue for a few days.

Those who have Seals and not contributed or those wishing to contribute should send them to the league in City Hall Plaza.

Daniel F. McMullen Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel F. McMullen, 826 Buckingham Road, this city, Thursday was appointed assistant U. S. attorney for Maryland, by Joseph D. Tydings, U. S. attorney for Maryland.

Mr. McMullen was sworn into office in U. S. Court for Maryland in Baltimore.

He received his early education at St. Patrick's Parochial School here and attended Cranwell Preparatory School in Lenox, Mass., where he graduated in 1948.

The new assistant U. S. attorney received his bachelor of arts from Georgetown University, in 1952. While at Georgetown, he was a member of the Reserve Officers Training Corps and upon graduation was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force.

He served two years with the Strategic Air Command in this country, England and Africa and was separated from the service in August 1954 as a first lieutenant.

Mr. McMullen entered the University of Maryland Law School in 1954 and received his bachelor of laws degree in June 1957.

In November 1957, he entered the Civil Division of the Department of Justice in Washington where he served until his resignation March 31 to accept the new appointment.

Tydings said one of McMullen's first assignments would be handling a pending land condemnation case involving Andrews Air Force Base near Washington, one of the largest condemnation cases ever brought in Maryland.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 16 and I want a boy friend more than anything in the world. I'm having no luck whatever and I don't know why. I know girls who don't have half of my good qualities and they seem to do much better. I have listed an honest description of myself and would like you to tell me what is wrong:

1. I am cute.
2. I act nice to everyone — especially boys.
3. I am not fat.
4. I keep myself very neat and clean.
5. My clothes are not cheap and they look good on me.
6. I don't wear much make-up.
7. I talk in low tones and act lady-like.
8. I live in a beautiful home and my parents are considered social.
9. I am a fairly good student and take part in school activities.
10. I am not conceited.

I need your help with my problem.—UNSUCCESSFUL

DEAR UNSUCCESSFUL: The key to your problem can be found in the first word of every sentence in your letter.

When you think less about "I" and more about "U" your problem will be solved.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You keep saying alcoholism is a sickness which results from emotional problems. Well, I don't buy it. It's strictly hereditary. Furthermore I see plenty of evidence in my husband's family which proves I am right.

I married a boozer from 'way back. His two brothers are almost as bad as he is, and his sister has martinis for breakfast. My father-in-law died seeing snakes, and his wife was a Grade A lush. If you can tell me how it happened that the whole family picked up the same "sickness" I'll apologize.—SICK OF DRUNKS.

DEAR SICK: Alcoholism has been studied by experts and there are a variety of theories on what causes excessive drinking. Alcoholism is NOT inherited in the way that blue eyes or curly hair is inherited. A tendency toward it may be in the family, however, as is the tendency toward diabetes or T.B.

In the case of your relatives the whole crowd has emotional problems they can't handle and they all chose the same escape route. But they were not born lushes as you insist.

DEAR ANN: I am happily married and we have two teen-age children. My husband has a fine job and makes enough money to take care of us. I happen to hate housework and am bored to tears at home because there's not enough to do, so—I took an office job which I love. I hire a cleaning woman and laundress two days a week which is ample.

My husband feels I should be home when the children come from school. I'm usually in the house by 5:45 but he says teenagers should not be allowed the free run of the place from 3:30 till almost 6.

What is your opinion?—MRS. S.

DEAR MRS. S.: If your husband wants you to be at home when the children come from school—be there. Since housework bores you it's fine that you have an office job, but work part-time only. Many husbands do not share his point of view, but since he has strong feelings, respect his wishes.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DeGaulle And The New Frontier

Sooner or later, Presidents Kennedy and De Gaulle, who have never met, would have had to sit down together. Some improvement is clearly called for in De Gaulle's attitude toward the United States and the Western Alliance.

Accordingly, Mr. Kennedy appears to have acted wisely in accepting De Gaulle's invitation to visit Paris for three days starting May 31. Mrs. Kennedy is to go along, and her charm and fluency in French should be no hindrance to the good will which may accrue from this state visit.

But the amenities will be subordinate to the real purpose of Mr. Kennedy's mission, which will be an attempt to reach a clearer understanding of mutual problems including Southeast Asia, the Congo, Berlin, nuclear testing and NATO. On these issues, the President's purpose would be to persuade General De Gaulle to demonstrate considerably more cooperation than he has in the recent past.

It is no secret why the French general was so difficult with the Eisenhower administration. He is a proud man, and he resented what he considered to be Washington's failure among other things to support fully French policy toward Algeria and to deal with France as an equal in the sharing of atomic secrets. There were misunderstandings as well on matters affecting NATO policy.

By the time Mr. Kennedy arrives in Paris, he will have had the benefit of prior consultations with Messrs. Macmillan, Adenauer and other Western leaders. As a result, he will be better equipped to argue the essential case for Allied unity and, if possible, to persuade General De Gaulle there is no longer profit in playing a lone hand.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

American Nazi Party

When a body of Americans calls itself the "American Nazi Party" it is guilty of an absurdity. An American cannot be a Nazi. A Nazi is a German National Socialist, a follower of Adolf Hitler, against whom the United States declared war. This so-called American organization uses the Swastika as an emblem.

The State of Virginia, in giving the "American Nazi Party" a charter, joined in this absurdity. There may be some explanation for this, but whatever it may be, it is an absurdity. The leader of this organization, George Lincoln Rockwell, tries to look, to dress, to act like Hitler which makes him ridiculous because Rockwell comes from Maine not from Austria. He is an Anglo-Saxon, not of Germanic origin. Hitler was funny. An imitation Hitler is more funny. No other word describes such a character.

There are several ways of looking at this movement:

1. They are sincere men and women who, having become distressed or disgusted by their environment, are rebelling against society and adopt Hitler as a model;

2. That they are mad;

3. That they are insincere opportunists trying to make a dishonest dollar by a gimmick;

4. That they are agents for some neo-Nazi faction in Germany;

5. That they are witting or unwitting agents for Soviet Russia which is setting up similar groups in many countries at the present time.

Which of these assumptions or which combination of them is correct, I do not know. But it is obvious that the "American Nazi Party" is a nuisance and cannot be treated otherwise. Wherever it goes, it creates a storm of protest, often of a violent physical turn.

The right of association is Constitutional, but it is not absolute. It is impossible, for instance, to charter Murder, Inc.; nor is it permissible for anarchists to organize to assassinate the President of the United States. The limitations of a right must be exercised cautiously, but so must the right itself be exercised cautiously.

The assumption that a street corner orator is within his rights if he carries an American flag is nonsense; he may carry the flag to denounce it, to assault it. Thus, I saw a photograph of some Nuclear Policy folks marching along the U.N. Plaza carrying an American flag. Why did they not carry a Russian flag or a Red Chinese flag? It would have served their purpose just as well, although some patriot might have hurled a brick because of high blood pressure.

When the State of Virginia granted the American Nazi Party a charter, some official was not thinking clearly. He would not have granted such a document to anybody during World War II. Are we so far from that war that we have forgotten what it was about? As a matter of fact, let us ask ourselves what it was about.

The Nazi, a socialist party not very different in basic ideology from the Communists, added a racial touch to their program. The reason that Hitler needed racism was that socialism is not politically dramatic. It is not dramatic in any country. To feed the populace, something must be added. Hitler added genocide. His program was to kill Jews and thus add the excitement of murder to his brand of socialism. He managed to kill 6,000,000 of them. He found creatures who were willing to make lamp shades of human skin—an afternoon's pastime at a coffee-break. His nation wallowed in a sea of blood before it was defeated by American troops, some of them surely coming from Virginia.

A Nazi therefore is a National Socialist who accepts racism as a creed and who believes that murder is justifiable if it is committed wholesale and by orders of the Party. It is pleasanter to watch "Gunsmoke" or "Have Gun Will Travel" on television. Vicarious murder is pleasanter than the real thing except for some small boys who want to pull out the whiskers of a cat or adults who are still small boys because although their bodies have grown, their minds continue to dwell on the "Let's play cops and robbers" phase of human development. There are still many such.

The danger of all this in this country is that the victims will not submit and wherever the American Nazi Party or its leaders appear, others appear to take them on. This means riots. Such disorders are not needed here and generally public authorities put them down with fire-hose although machine guns are at times also used. Who needs it?

JFK Administration 'Shooting From The Hip'

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — There is beginning to be a feeling here that the Kennedy Administration is "shooting from the hip," acting impulsively, and not thinking things through before acting. The latest episode emphasizing this feeling is the inept way the Administration has handled the artificial controversy which was stirred up over the alleged secrecy of the sessions of the Business Advisory Council of the Department of Commerce.

Many businessmen are displeased with the gratuitous attack on them and are saying that, if the sessions of their Advisory Council are to be open to the press when government officials are present — as the Kennedy Administration now has ordered — the same rule should apply to the sessions of the Labor-Management Advisory Conference in the Department of Labor and also to the sessions between farm groups and the Secretary of Agriculture.

To put it another way, if it is a sin for a government official to talk privately to a business group and the sessions are to be open hereafter to the press, then it is only fair that all meetings between Cabinet Officers and other economic groups should also be open to the press.

The Kennedy Administration, however, doesn't practice what it preaches. Thus, on March 21, when the initial meeting of the Advisory Committee on Labor-Management policy was held, Secretary of Defense McNamara, Under Secretary of State Bowles and several other high officials addressed the group behind closed doors. Later on, while a transcript of what the President said was made public, an inadequate summary of what the other government officials said was issued by the Secretary of Labor, Arthur Goldberg. The representatives of the press were barred from the meeting, and no opportunity was given them to get at firsthand all of what was said in the informal discussions with the government officials present.

As a practical matter, unless the Kennedy Administration modifies its one-sided decrees and begins to apply them fairly to all advisory conferences with special groups, the chances are that they will not serve the useful purpose that might have otherwise been achieved. Everybody knows that there is likely to be a much more frank and comprehensive discussion of any topic when the participants are not going to be quoted in the press than if every word is for publication.

An erroneous impression has been spread that the Business Advisory Council is some sort of secret body which has been influencing government action in its favor. As a matter of fact, the council has given as much as it has received by way of economic information, and has sought no favor for any member of the group or for special interests. It has offered advice when asked but has been mostly concerned with economic trends. All the Secretaries of Commerce of the past, Democratic as well as Republican, have declared that the sessions of the Business Advisory Council have been as helpful to government as they have been to business.

Charges have been trumped up that the council ignores small business. Actually, it has always had a number of members from small businesses, and the innuendo that the council somehow is concerned with "big business" alone, as opposed to "small business," is baseless and is really a piece of political demagoguery.

Originally Congress created a single Department of Commerce and Labor, but in subsequent years it was determined to have a separate department for each. The impression has grown in recent years that the Labor Secretary must be a champion of labor unions and that the Commerce Secretary must serve as the defender of business as such. Much depends on the experience of the Secretary in each case. Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg came from one of the big labor unions, in the steel industry. Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges, although once engaged in the textile industry, has been active for the last several years in the business of politics as the Democratic Governor of North Carolina. Naturally, when the political pressure from Democrats in Congress is put on him to weaken the line of communication between businessmen and the government and, as in this case, he gets instructions from President Kennedy to do what the foes of business want done, he tends to ride along. This disappoints businessmen who would like to see the Secretary of Commerce rise above such political maneuvering.

For sooner or later the Kennedy Administration will discover that, if it expects the nation to enjoy a sound and healthy recovery so that the economic conditions in 1964 will be favorable to the party in power, there must be a solid foundation built on the economic side. The closer government officials can get to the experienced leaders of business who are familiar with economic trends and with the pitfalls that retard economic growth, the better the chances of developing an era of high employment and higher tax receipts.

Efforts, however, to improve the climate in the relations between government and business suffered an unfortunate setback this week when the Secretary of Commerce decided to require open sessions of the Business Advisory Council of his department before securing any agreement that similar treatment would be required of the other economic groups which participate in the various advisory councils of the government. The whole problem was not thought through ahead of time by the administration, some of whose members today probably are "sadder but wiser men."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

EASTER RECESS—The Kennedy administration, obviously in difficulty over some parts of its legislative program, hoped the Congressional Easter recess would help.

The idea was that Senators and Congressmen, returning to their constituencies, would find the kind of support for the program that would send them back to Washingotn more in a mood for action than has been displayed during the first three months of the session.

This has been the result in recent year. Congress would go home for Easter vacations, run into generally sharp criticism of inaction, then return to Washington to work harder.

Just before this year's recess, the House of Representatives handed President Kennedy his first serious defeat. It concerned his proposals for increasing the federal minimum wage and expanding coverage. The liberal Kennedy program lost by a single vote, and the House then went on to pass a much more conservative program.

Among other things, Kennedy is hopeful that Senators, fresh from a visit to their constituencies, will now give him a strong vote for his program, thus making possible a favorable compromise between the two houses when they get together to hammer out a single bill acceptable to both.

Despite past records, however, there is at least an even chance that the Easter recess will work against Kennedy this year, rather than for him. It is pointed out that the legislators returning home in the midst of the spring economic upturn could well find complacency rather than concern, a desire to hold down federal spending rather than pressures for more government money to ease the effects of the recession.

Hydrochlorothiazide Safe Acne Treatment

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Girls may have an obvious flareup of acne prior to the menstrual period. Oiliness of the skin and scalp increases, followed by several pimples on the chin, cheeks, or forehead. In addition, many have the usual pre-menstrual complaints of depression, malaise, headache, irritability, and bloating.

Dr. A. J. Edelstein of Johnstown, Pa., gave hydrochlorothiazide to 109 girls and women with premenstrual acne. This diuretic draws fluid from the tissues. It is a logical remedy because the distress that precedes the period usually stems from an accumulation of fluid in the tissues. Excellent results were reported in 7, good in 73, no change in 10, and slight improvement in 19.

Hydrochlorothiazide is known as a saluretic because it stimulates the kidneys to excrete salt. This in turn encourages the elimination of water. The product is used extensively in the treatment of dropsy and high blood pressure. It is a safe drug and worth considering when uncomfortable symptoms or unsightly pimples develop during a few days prior to menstruation.

Premenstrual tension is said to be responsible for an increase in auto accidents among women during the few days before the period. On the other hand, the gals are said to be less susceptible to colds during menstruation. They are more susceptible during the midperiod of the cycle and, to a lesser degree, during the immediate premenstrual phase.

ORIGIN OF WARTS

G. Z. M. writes: Is the cause of warts known?

REPLY

Not exactly. For some years, viral infections have been blamed. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on warts.

FAT ALLOTMENT

J. L. writes: How much fat should be included in the diet every day?

REPLY

Authorities say of the total number of calories, 25 to 30 per cent should come from fat. This means a reasonable amount of fatty meats, butter, and cream. Those on a low fat diet usually cut the fat from the edges of the slice of meat and eliminate fried foods, gravies, and cream from the menus. They substitute skim for whole milk.

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION

N. S. writes: What can be done by the family to help a man of 74 who is a neurasthenic?

REPLY

Take him to the family physician for a thorough checkup. His weakness may be due to an infection in the prostate, kidney, teeth, or other organs. A more serious condition may exist. But if he is given a clean bill of health, the lack of energy may stem from depression, no initiative, poor diet, or a continuation of a lazy streak.

STAY AS YOU ARE

Mrs. G. B. writes: Are there any overweight persons who should not reduce?

REPLY

Yes. Muscular men with big frames, for example, are overweight because of their muscle mass, but this is not a health hazard. A few obese individuals become unhappy or disturbed when they try to reduce. In my opinion, there is no need for stout oldsters to reduce if they have been this way for many decades. They carry their fat well, so why change?

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A couple were driving their 5-year-old son home from a day at the beach when suddenly the car ahead stopped short without warning: the father drove smack into it. Nobody was hurt, but the man in the car ahead was shaken up a bit. He turned out to be a midget from a sideshow on the boardwalk.

The 5-year-old remained discreetly silent during the entire proceeding. It was only after he got home that he asked his father, "Hey Pop, was that man we hit as tall as you before the accident?"

A vernerable Australian Archbishop was interviewed on his ninety-sixth birthday. "To what," he was asked, "do you ascribe the fact that you have reached the age of 96?" "Primarily," smiled the Archbishop, "to the fact that I was born in 1865."

Columnist's Mail Shows Public's Interest In New Administration

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — A newspaper columnist's mail is usually a pretty good cross-section of what the people of America are thinking. Of late, my mail has become more voluminous than ever, as more people want information about the Kennedy Administration or want to argue about the new President.

Here is part of one day's answer to a newspaper columnist's mail.

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, Marble Collegiate Church, NYC—I appreciate the information that although you did attend a meeting of Protestant clergy which later issued a statement doubting the qualifications of a Catholic for President, you had nothing to do with the preparation of the statement and never signed it.

Gov. James A. Noe, Monroe, La.—The pills that kill fleas on dogs and stop their scratching are put out by the Pitman-Moore Co. of Indianapolis.

William Friedman, Detroit, Mich.—Although some members of the Kennedy Administration were convinced that Defense Secretary McNamara had been advised by David Rockefeller and Henry Ford II not to appoint Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. as Secretary of the Navy, this was not correct. I carried the denial of the Ford office at the time, and since then have further confirmation from David Rockefeller. He wasn't even remotely cognizant of the matter. The Rockefeller family has kept out of Kennedy politics and Cabinet appointments . . . W. Roy Pace, Carlsbad, Calif.—The petition to secure 10,000,000 names supporting the late Sen. Joe McCarthy fell so far short of even a million names that the total was never published.

Frank Gibson, Lewiston, Me.—The John Birch Society has flourished in some areas, chiefly because it has had the backing of important business leaders, among them William Grade, President of the J. I. Case Farm Implement Co.; Mr. Cola Parker, head of Kimberly-Clark, and T. Coleman Andrews, of Richmond, Va., former Commissioner of Internal Revenue. In California Congressman Edgar W. Hiestand of Altadena is a member. In general, the extreme charges of the Society, namely, that Eisenhower "was a devoted and convinced Communist," who took orders from his brother Milton, and that John Foster Dulles was a "Communist agent," have soured most sensible people regarding the society. American newspapers face the difficult alternative of either ignoring the society and letting it grow clandestinely or criticizing it, thereby giving it publicity.

Mrs. Margaret Schumm, Seattle, Wash.—I did not go to Europe with the American Friends Service Committee in 1919 to escape the draft. The war was over at that time and I had already served in the U. S. Army. Unlike the postwar period of today, there was no draft after World War I, and I was in no way obligated to respond to military service or any other service. I wrote a recent column regarding this two-year service abroad, in what might have then been called a "Peace Corps," only because of the tremendous amount of interest on the part of current American youth in the Kennedy Peace Corps, and because of my belief that young people who take time out to work for others actually get more from it than they realize. In other words, an investment of two years, even without salary, in service of this kind pays very high dividends in the long run.

Russell M. Anderson, Havertown, Pa.—In my opinion federal aid to education is absolutely necessary if we are going to keep American schools ahead of the fast-moving system of Russian education. I do not believe that federal aid for teachers' salaries will affect what these teachers teach any more than federal aid to medical schools—which now totals half-a-billion dollars annually—affects what these doctors practice or their laboratory tests . . . M. Louise Valle, Los Angeles, Calif.—Probably you failed to note one of my earlier columns in which I reported that President Betancourt of Venezuela had once been a Communist, but long ago gave up that doctrine. He is now, like many other ex-Communists, a vigorous foe of Communists and is hated by them.

T. D. Jordan, Greenville, Miss.—Several readers have claimed I was wrong in reporting Benjamin Franklin as the first Postmaster General in American History. Nevertheless, he was. Franklin had been Deputy Postmaster General under the British Crown in 1737 and Postmaster General for the Colonies in 1753, again under the Crown. He was summarily dismissed by the king on January 30, 1774. But the Second Continental Congress created the Post Office Department with headquarters in Philadelphia, and on July 26, 1775, elected Benjamin Franklin Postmaster General for one year. When, later, he sailed for France as our Ambassador, Richard Bache succeeded him, November 7, 1776. Reader confusion may result from the fact that for a time the Post Office was a branch of the U. S. Treasury and it was not until March 9, 1829, that the Postmaster General was made an official member of the Cabinet. However, Benjamin Franklin did serve as the first Postmaster General when the post was created on July 26, 1775.

Mrs. Harry J. Peters, Los Angeles—The testimony before the U. S. Senate Education Subcommittee that the Catholic bishops of Puerto Rico founded their own "Catholic Action Party" after the Puerto Rican Legislature refused to permit religious teaching in the schools, is borne out by historical fact and as far as I know has never been denied by the Catholic bishops or anyone except you. There is no question whatsoever but that the Catholic bishops of Puerto Rico threatened parishioners with excommunication during the last election if they voted for Gov. Luis Munoz Marin and his party—which had opposed religious teaching in the schools. The action of the Catholic bishops in Puerto Rico undoubtedly was deplored by many Catholics in the United States, including President Kennedy who suffered from it during the election. Nevertheless, it did happen.

Mrs. J. C. Tennison, Great Mills, Md. — Sen. Hugh Butler of Nebraska was misinformed when he wrote in 1943 that the United States had poured "six thousand million dollars" into Latin America in a giant hemispheric handout. We have given no such money to Latin America at any time, nor have we loaned or given Latin America anywhere near a fraction of the money we have advanced or given to Western Europe. The current Kennedy proposal of $500 million in development loans to Latin America plus $10 million of foreign aid, compares with approximately $4 billion of foreign aid to other parts of the world voted in the last Eisenhower budget. An equal amount has been proposed again by President Kennedy for the next budget.... The students of Room 4, Isbell School, Santa Paula, Calif. — Thank you so much for the $8.78 collected by the members of your schoolroom for the "University of the Americas." The face that you collected the money by selling marbles and giving up your own luncheon money will be very much appreciated by the Cuban refugees who are now struggling to get an education in the United States.

Life With The Indians

By John Crosby

"Notwithstanding the Indian women have all the fuel and bread to procure, and the cooking to perform, their task is probably not harder than that of white women, who have these articles provided for them; and their cares certainly are not half as numerous, nor as great."

Mrs. Mary Jemison, one of the most famous white captives of the Indians, is the author of the statement made in 1824. The Indian captivity narrative has been described as one of our oldest literary forms, the most American, and this, the best of them, is fascinating because of sentences like that which provide marvelous insights to life among the savages who were perhaps not all that savage.

Mary Jemison was captured by Indians when she was twelve years old. Her father, mother, two of her brothers, and sister were murdered by the Indians, who, however, adopted Mary and brought her up. She married two Indians, both of whom she loved and respected. Her second husband died at the age of 103 after she'd lived with him for fifty years. The narrative has just been republished by the American Experience Series which is devoted to publishing new editions of historic books "which mirrored and shaped the growth of our nation from earliest time to the present."

But, to get back to life on the distaff side of the Indians, Mary reports: "In the summer season, we planted, tended, and harvested our corn, and generally had all the children with us; but had no master to oversee or drive us, so that we could work as leisurely as we pleased. We had no ploughs on the Ohio; but performed the whole process of planting and hoeing with a small tool that resembled in some respects a hoe with a very short handle.

"As our cooking and eating utensils consisted of a hommany block and pestle, a small kettle, a knife or two, and a few vessels of bark or wood, it required but little time to keep them in use." Aah, there, you girls with the dishwashers! Probably far more work loading one of those contraptions, after first washing the dishes. It's been my contention for years that the labor-saving devices are more work than they save.

Mary found her Indian husbands decent, kind, honorable, and loving and she extols Indians generally for their virtue and honor. However, she bears out the old saw that there is nothing worse than a drunken Indian. "The use of ardent spirits among the Indians, and the attempts which have been made to civilize and Christianize them by white people have constantly made them worse and worse; increased their vices and robbed them of many of their virtues, and will ultimately produce their extermination."

But while Christianizing Indians seems to have produced nothing but harm, the Indianizing of white women seems to have produced a noble and, above all, tough breed. Mary — her Indian name was Dickewamis — tells of one trip through the wilderness. "Those only who have travelled on foot five or six hundred miles, through an almost pathless wilderness, can form an idea of the fatigue and suffering I endured on that journey. My clothing was thin and illy calculated to defend me from the continually drenching rains with which I was daily completely wet, and at night with nothing but my wet blanket to cover me, I had to sleep on the naked ground, and generally without a shelter, save that as nature had provided. In addition to that, I had to carry my child, then about nine months old, every step of the journey, on my back or in my arms."

So, all right, it's tough sometimes, being a girl Indian. Nevertheless, on those occasions when the whites tried to reclaim Dickewamis, she ran and hid, preferring to remain an Indian. She was captured by the Shawnees, adopted by the Senecas, and married into the Iroquois. She died at the age of ninety.

DeGaulle And The New Frontier

Sooner or later, Presidents Kennedy and De Gaulle, who have never met, would have had to sit down together. Some improvement is clearly called for in De Gaulle's attitude toward the United States and the Western Alliance.

Accordingly, Mr. Kennedy appears to have acted wisely in accepting De Gaulle's invitation to visit Paris for three days starting May 31. Mrs. Kennedy is to go along, and her charm and fluency in French should be no hindrance to the good will which may accrue from this state visit.

But the amenities will be subordinate to the real purpose of Mr. Kennedy's mission, which will be an attempt to reach a clearer understanding of mutual problems including Southeast Asia, the Congo, Berlin, nuclear testing and NATO. On these issues, the President's purpose would be to persuade General De Gaulle to demonstrate considerably more cooperation than he has in the recent past.

It is no secret why the French general was so difficult with the Eisenhower administration. He is a proud man, and he resented what he considered to be Washington's failure among other things to support fully French policy toward Algeria and to deal with France as an equal in the sharing of atomic secrets. There were misunderstandings as well on matters affecting NATO policy.

By the time Mr. Kennedy arrives in Paris, he will have had the benefit of prior consultations with Messrs. Macmillan, Adenauer and other Western leaders. As a result, he will be better equipped to argue the essential case for Allied unity and, if possible, to persuade General De Gaulle there is no longer profit in playing a lone hand.

These Days

American Nazi Party

When a body of Americans calls itself the "American Nazi Party" it is guilty of an absurdity. An American cannot be a Nazi. A Nazi is a German National Socialist, a follower of Adolf Hitler, against whom the United States declared war. This so-called American organization uses the Swastika as an emblem.

The State of Virginia, in giving the "American Nazi Party" a charter, joined in this absurdity. There may be some explanation for this, but whatever it may be, it is an absurdity. The leader of this organization, George Lincoln Rockwell, tries to look, to dress, to act like Hitler which makes him ridiculous because Rockwell comes from Maine not from Austria. He is an Anglo-Saxon, not of Germanic origin. Hitler was funny. An imitation Hitler is more funny. No other word describes such a character.

There are several ways of looking at this movement:

1. They are sincere men and women who, having become distressed or disgusted by their environment, are rebelling against society and adopt Hitler as a model;

2. That they are mad;

3. That they are insincere opportunists trying to make a dishonest dollar by a gimmick;

4. That they are agents for some neo-Nazi faction in Germany;

5. That they are witting or unwitting agents for Soviet Russia which is setting up similar groups in many countries at the present time.

Which of these assumptions or which combination of them is correct, I do not know. But it is obvious that the "American Nazi Party" is a nuisance and cannot be treated otherwise. Wherever it goes, it creates a storm of protest, often of a violent physical turn.

The right of association is Constitutional, but it is not absolute. It is impossible, for instance, to charter Murder, Inc.; nor is it permissible for anarchists to organize to assassinate the President of the United States. The limitations of a right must be exercised cautiously, but so must the right itself be exercised cautiously.

The assumption that a street corner orator is within his rights if he carries an American flag is nonsense; he may carry the flag to denounce it, to assault it. Thus, I saw a photograph of some Nuclear Policy folks marching along the U.N. Plaza carrying an American flag. Why did they not carry a Russian flag or a Red Chinese flag? It would have served their purpose just as well, although some patriot might have hurled a brick because of high blood pressure.

When the State of Virginia granted the American Nazi Party a charter, some official was not thinking clearly. He would not have granted such a document to anybody during World War II. Are we so far from that war that we have forgotten what it was about? As a matter of fact, let us ask ourselves what it was about.

The Nazi, a socialist party not very different in basic ideology from the Communists, added a racial touch to their program. The reason that Hitler needed racism was that socialism is not politically dramatic. It is not dramatic in any country. To feed the populace, something must be added. Hitler added genocide. His program was to kill Jews and thus add the excitement of murder to his brand of socialism. He managed to kill 6,000,000 of them. He found creatures who were willing to make lamp shades of human skin—an afternoon's pastime at a coffee-break. His nation wallowed in a sea of blood before it was defeated by American troops, some of them surely coming from Virginia.

A Nazi therefore is a National Socialist who accepts racism as a creed and who believes that murder is justifiable if it is committed wholesale and by orders of the Party. It is pleasanter to watch "Gunsmoke" or "Have Gun Will Travel" on television. Vicarious murder is pleasanter than the real thing except for some small boys who want to pull out the whiskers of a cat or adults who are still small boys because although their bodies have grown, their minds continue to dwell on the "Let's play cops and robbers" phase of human development. There are still many such.

The danger of all this in this country is that the victims will not submit and wherever the American Nazi Party or its leaders appear, others appear to take them on. This means riots. Such disorders are not needed here and generally public authorities put them down with fire-hose although machine guns are at times also used. Who needs it?

JFK Administration 'Shooting From The Hip'

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — There is beginning to be a feeling here that the Kennedy Administration is "shooting from the hip," acting impulsively, and not thinking things through before acting. The latest episode emphasizing this feeling is the inept way the Administration has handled the artificial controversy which was stirred up over the alleged secrecy of the sessions of the Business Advisory Council of the Department of Commerce.

Many businessmen are displeased with the gratuitous attack on them and are saying that, if the sessions of their Advisory Council are to be open to the press when government officials are present — as the Kennedy Administration now has ordered — the same rule should apply to the sessions of the Labor-Management Advisory Conference in the Department of Labor and also to the sessions between farm groups and the Secretary of Agriculture.

To put it another way, if it is a sin for a government official to talk privately to a business group and the sessions are to be open hereafter to the press, then it is only fair that all meetings between Cabinet Officers and other economic groups should also be open to the press.

The Kennedy Administration, however, doesn't practice what it preaches. Thus, on March 21, when the initial meeting of the Advisory Committee on Labor-Management policy was held, Secretary of Defense McNamara, Under Secretary of State Bowles and several other high officials addressed the group behind closed doors. Later on, while a transcript of what the President said was made public, an inadequate summary of what the other government officials said was issued by the Secretary of Labor, Arthur Goldberg. The representatives of the press were barred from the meeting, and no opportunity was given them to get at firsthand all of what was said in the informal discussions with the government officials present.

As a practical matter, unless the Kennedy Administration modifies its one-sided decrees and begins to apply them fairly to all advisory conferences with special groups, the chances are that they will not serve the useful purpose that might have otherwise been achieved. Everybody knows that there is likely to be a much more frank and comprehensive discussion of any topic when the participants are not going to be quoted in the press than if every word is for publication.

An erroneous impression has been spread that the Business Advisory Council is some sort of secret body which has been influencing government action in its favor. As a matter of fact, the council has given as much as it has received by way of economic information, and has sought no favor for any member of the group or for special interests. It has offered advice when asked but has been mostly concerned with economic trends. All the Secretaries of Commerce of the past, Democratic as well as Republican, have declared that the sessions of the Business Advisory Council have been as helpful to government as they have been to business.

Charges have been trumped up that the council ignores small business. Actually, it has always had a number of members from small businesses, and the innuendo that the council somehow is concerned with "big business" alone, as opposed to "small business," is baseless and is really a piece of political demagoguery.

Originally Congress created a single Department of Commerce and Labor, but in subsequent years it was determined to have a separate department for each. The impression has grown in recent years that the Labor Secretary must be a champion of labor unions and that the Commerce Secretary must serve as the defender of business as such. Much depends on the experience of the Secretary in each case. Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg came from one of the big labor unions, in the steel industry. Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges, although once engaged in the textile industry, has been active for the last several years in the business of politics as the Democratic Governor of North Carolina. Naturally, when the political pressure from Democrats in Congress is put on him to weaken the line of communication between businessmen and the government and, as in this case, he gets instructions from President Kennedy to do what the foes of business want done, he tends to ride along. This disappoints businessmen who would like to see the Secretary of Commerce rise above such political maneuvering.

For sooner or later the Kennedy Administration will discover that, if it expects the nation to enjoy a sound and healthy recovery so that the economic conditions in 1964 will be favorable to the party in power, there must be a solid foundation built on the economic side. The closer government officials can get to the experienced leaders of business who are familiar with economic trends and with the pitfalls that retard economic growth, the better the chances of developing an era of high employment and higher tax receipts.

Efforts, however, to improve the climate in the relations between government and business suffered an unfortunate setback this week when the Secretary of Commerce decided to require open sessions of the Business Advisory Council of his department before securing any agreement that similar treatment would be required of the other economic groups which participate in the various advisory councils of the government. The whole problem was not thought through ahead of time by the administration, some of whose members today probably are "sadder but wiser men."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

EASTER RECESS—The Kennedy administration, obviously in difficulty over some parts of its legislative program, hoped the Congressional Easter recess would help.

The idea was that Senators and Congressmen, returning to their constituencies, would find the kind of support for the program that would send them back to Washingotn more in a mood for action than has been displayed during the first three months of the session.

This has been the result in recent year. Congress would go home for Easter vacations, run into generally sharp criticism of inaction, then return to Washington to work harder.

Just before this year's recess, the House of Representatives handed President Kennedy his first serious defeat. It concerned his proposals for increasing the federal minimum wage and expanding coverage. The liberal Kennedy program lost by a single vote, and the House then went on to pass a much more conservative program.

Among other things, Kennedy is hopeful that Senators, fresh from a visit to their constituencies, will now give him a strong vote for his program, thus making possible a favorable compromise between the two houses when they get together to hammer out a single bill acceptable to both.

Despite past records, however, there is at least an even chance that the Easter recess will work against Kennedy this year, rather than for him. It is pointed out that the legislators returning home in the midst of the spring economic upturn could well find complacency rather than concern, a desire to hold down federal spending rather than pressures for more government money to ease the effects of the recession.

Hydrochlorothiazide Safe Acne Treatment

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Girls may have an obvious flareup of acne prior to the menstrual period. Oiliness of the skin and scalp increases, followed by several pimples on the chin, cheeks, or forehead. In addition, many have the usual pre-menstrual complaints of depression, malaise, headache, irritability, and bloating.

Dr. A. J. Edelstein of Johnstown, Pa., gave hydrochlorothiazide to 109 girls and women with premenstrual acne. This diuretic draws fluid from the tissues. It is a logical remedy because the distress that precedes the period usually stems from an accumulation of fluid in the tissues. Excellent results were reported in 7, good in 73, no change in 10, and slight improvement in 19.

Hydrochlorothiazide is known as a saluretic because it stimulates the kidneys to excrete salt. This in turn encourages the elimination of water. The product is used extensively in the treatment of dropsy and high blood pressure. It is a safe drug and worth considering when uncomfortable symptoms or unsightly pimples develop during a few days prior to menstruation.

Premenstrual tension is said to be responsible for an increase in auto accidents among women during the few days before the period. On the other hand, the gals are said to be less susceptible to colds during menstruation. They are more susceptible during the midperiod of the cycle and, to a lesser degree, during the immediate premenstrual phase.

ORIGIN OF WARTS

G. Z. M. writes: Is the cause of warts known?

REPLY

Not exactly. For some years, viral infections have been blamed. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on warts.

FAT ALLOTMENT

J. L. writes: How much fat should be included in the diet every day?

REPLY

Authorities say of the total number of calories, 25 to 30 per cent should come from fat. This means a reasonable amount of fatty meats, butter, and cream. Those on a low fat diet usually cut the fat from the edges of the slice of meat and eliminate fried foods, gravies, and cream from the menus. They substitute skim for whole milk.

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION

N. S. writes: What can be done by the family to help a man of 74 who is a neurasthenic?

REPLY

Take him to the family physician for a thorough checkup. His weakness may be due to an infection in the prostate, kidney, teeth, or other organs. A more serious condition may exist. But if he is given a clean bill of health, the lack of energy may stem from depression, no initiative, poor diet, or a continuation of a lazy streak.

STAY AS YOU ARE

Mrs. G. B. writes: Are there any overweight persons who should not reduce?

REPLY

Yes. Muscular men with big frames, for example, are overweight because of their muscle mass, but this is not a health hazard. A few obese individuals become unhappy or disturbed when they try to reduce. In my opinion, there is no need for stout oldsters to reduce if they have been this way for many decades. They carry their fat well, so why change?

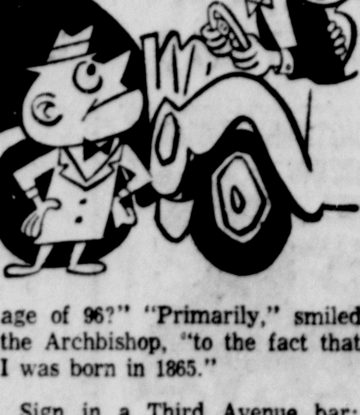
To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A couple were driving their 5-year-old son home from a day at the beach when suddenly the car ahead stopped short without warning; the father drove smack into it. Nobody was hurt, but the man in the car ahead was shaken up a bit. He turned out to be a midget from a sideshow on the boardwalk.

The 5-year-old remained discreetly silent during the entire proceeding. It was only after he got home that he asked his father, "Hey Pop, was that man we hit as tall as you before the accident?"



A vernerable Australian Archbishop was interviewed on his ninety-sixth birthday. "To what," he was asked, "do you ascribe the fact that you have reached the age of 96?" "Primarily," smiled the Archbishop, "to the fact that I was born in 1865."

Life With The Indians

By John Crosby

"Notwithstanding the Indian women have all the fuel and bread to procure, and the cooking to perform, their task is probably not harder than that of white women, who have these articles provided for them; and their cares certainly are not half as numerous, nor as great."

Mrs. Mary Jemison, one of the most famous white captives of the Indians, is the author of the statement made in 1824. The Indian captivity narrative has been described as one of our oldest literary forms, the most American, and this, the best of them, is fascinating because of sentences like that which provide marvelous insights to life among the savages who were perhaps not all that savage.

Mary Jemison was captured by Indians when she was twelve years old. Her father, mother, two of her brothers, and sister were murdered by the Indians, who, however, adopted Mary and brought her up. She married two Indians, both of whom she loved and respected. Her second husband died at the age of 103 after she'd lived with him for fifty years. The narrative has just been republished by the American Experience Series which is devoted to publishing new editions of historic books "which mirrored and shaped the growth of our nation from earliest time to the present."

But, to get back to life on the distaff side of the Indians, Mary reports: "In the summer season, we planted, tended, and harvested our corn, and generally had all the children with us; but had no master to oversee or drive us, so that we could work as leisurely as we pleased. We had no ploughs on the Ohio; but performed the whole process of planting and hoeing with a small tool that resembled in some respects a hoe with a very short handle.

"As our cooking and eating utensils consisted of a hommany block and pestle, a small kettle, a knife or two, and a few vessels of bark or wood, it required but little time to keep them in use." Aah, there, you girls with the dishwashers! Probably far more work loading one of those contraptions, after first washing the dishes. It's been my contention for years that the labor-saving devices are more work than they save.

Mary found her Indian husbands decent, kind, honorable, and loving and she extols Indians generally for their virtue and honor. However, she bears out the old saw that there is nothing worse than a drunken Indian. "The use of ardent spirits among the Indians, and the attempts which have been made to civilize and Christianize them by white people have constantly made them worse and worse; increased their vices and robbed them of many of their virtues, and will ultimately produce their extermination."

But while Christianizing Indians seems to have produced nothing but harm, the Indianizing of white women seems to have produced a noble and, above all, tough breed. Mary — her Indian name was Dickewamis — tells of one trip through the wilderness. "Those only who have travelled on foot five or six hundred miles, through an almost pathless wilderness, can form an idea of the fatigue and suffering I endured on that journey. My clothing was thin and illy calculated to defend me from the continually drenching rains with which I was daily completely wet, and at night with nothing but my wet blanket to cover me, I had to sleep on the naked ground, and generally without a shelter, save that as nature had provided. In addition to that, I had to carry my child, then about nine months old, every step of the journey, on my back or in my arms."

So, all right, it's tough sometimes, being a girl Indian. Nevertheless, on those occasions when the whites tried to reclaim Dickewamis, she ran and hid, preferring to remain an Indian. She was captured by the Shawnees, adopted by the Senecas, and married into the Iroquois. She died at the age of ninety.

Salem College President Heads W.Va. Group

200 Educators Meet At Keyser

KEYSER—An all-time record of some 200 members were present at Potomac State College Thursday and Friday for the 24th annual meeting of the West Virginia Association of Higher Education.

At Thursday evening's business session it was pointed out that the total membership among the 20 colleges and universities of the state is 428, an increase of 124 over last year.

College administrators and faculty members were urged to pursue unity among the students within their charge in an address by Dr. Russell M. Cooper, dean of the college of liberal arts, University of South Florida at Tampa following the banquet Thursday evening at Davis Hall.

Dr. Cooper used the theme of the two-day meeting, "Unity in Higher Education," from the student's point of view, to present four aspects of unity: unity of knowledge, unity of understanding, unity in a sense of values and unity within the campus atmosphere.

Of unity of knowledge he said the student must get not only breadth of knowledge but a larger perspective that will enable him to relate his specialty to the whole field of understanding.

He pointed out that unity of understanding will come about if the colleges strive to recognize students of varying levels of background, both intellectual and sociological.

Since World War II American youth, he said, have been apathetic in trying to find some meaning in their lives in a world they find confusing. Colleges have the responsibility to help them to find "a clear, straightforward resolution."

A visitor to a college campus can sense the spirit there within a day "whether it is friendly or cold, interested in ideas or primarily football" and a college can and should make ideas the most exciting thing in the world, Dr. Cooper said.

Mrs. Zeona E. Haley, professor of education at West Virginia State College, is to continue as secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Harris appointed Professor William E. Michael of Potomac State College to join the AHE officers as Association representative to the Delegate Assembly of the WVEA in Charleston May 5-6. Professor James T. Handlan, Potomac State, was appointed to the AHE legislative committee.

The group approved the selection of Dr. John F. Montgomery, president of Greenbrier College for Women, as a candidate for the vice presidency of the WVEA.

The spring meeting adjourned yesterday at noon following a luncheon at Davis Hall at which Dr. John W. Davis, president emeritus of West Virginia State College, was principal speaker.

Diggins postponed a decision until the end of the month, saying he hoped a settlement would be reached before then.

200 Educators Meet At Keyser

KEYSER—An all-time record of some 200 members were present at Potomac State College Thursday and Friday for the 24th annual meeting of the West Virginia Association of Higher Education.

At Thursday evening's business session it was pointed out that the total membership among the 20 colleges and universities of the state is 428, an increase of 124 over last year.

College administrators and faculty members were urged to pursue unity among the students within their charge in an address by Dr. Russell M. Cooper, dean of the college of liberal arts, University of South Florida at Tampa following the banquet Thursday evening at Davis Hall.

Dr. Cooper used the theme of the two-day meeting, "Unity in Higher Education," from the student's point of view, to present four aspects of unity: unity of knowledge, unity of understanding, unity in a sense of values and unity within the campus atmosphere.

Of unity of knowledge he said the student must get not only breadth of knowledge but a larger perspective that will enable him to relate his specialty to the whole field of understanding.

He pointed out that unity of understanding will come about if the colleges strive to recognize students of varying levels of background, both intellectual and sociological.

Since World War II American youth, he said, have been apathetic in trying to find some meaning in their lives in a world they find confusing. Colleges have the responsibility to help them to find "a clear, straightforward resolution."

A visitor to a college campus can sense the spirit there within a day "whether it is friendly or cold, interested in ideas or primarily football" and a college can and should make ideas the most exciting thing in the world, Dr. Cooper said.

Mrs. Zeona E. Haley, professor of education at West Virginia State College, is to continue as secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Harris appointed Professor William E. Michael of Potomac State College to join the AHE officers as Association representative to the Delegate Assembly of the WVEA in Charleston May 5-6. Professor James T. Handlan, Potomac State, was appointed to the AHE legislative committee.

The group approved the selection of Dr. John F. Montgomery, president of Greenbrier College for Women, as a candidate for the vice presidency of the WVEA.

Hampshire Co. Fails To Extradite Pair In Pennsylvania

MEDIA, Pa. (AP)—A West Virginia sheriff and state policeman came here Friday in an unsuccessful attempt to extradite two men to that state where they are wanted for stealing a cigarette lighter and a deck of playing cards.

Following the 7½ hour trip here, Sheriff J. M. Buckbe of Hampshire County and Trooper Thomas Cadle started a 7½ hour trip back, empty handed.

They told Judge John V. Diggins in Delaware County Court that Ray Cross, 21, and his brother-in-law, Paul Marley, 19, both of Chester, had taken the items from a hunting lodge at Hanging Rock.

Diggins postponed a decision until the end of the month, saying he hoped a settlement would be reached before then.

The value of the stolen items was not disclosed.

McDonald, Scallion Get 48; PBC Victor In Jr. Unlimited

A Hagerstown quint won the Senior Unlimited Division championship in the 16th annual Central YMCA-Jaycees basketball tournament last night when Noland's Garage of Hagerstown defeated Clise's Service Station in the fourth and final game on the program at the "Y" by the score of 81 to 73.

Teams from the Tri-Towns had won Senior Division honors for the past four years.

Noland's took a 17-9 lead in the first period, held a 7-point advantage at halftime, 37-30 and led 55-47 when the third period ended.

The Hub City quint sewed up the decision early in the final period by increasing its lead to 16 points. Clise's quint reeled off nine points in a row and pulled within seven points of Noland's several minutes before the final whistle.

Hoop 27 of 38 Fouls

Clise's team outscored Noland's 32 to 27 from the field but the Hagerstown team won the game at the foul line by sinking 27 of 38 shots while the opposition was converting 9 of 18 throws at the charity stripe.

Buck McDonald and Nick Scallion accounted for 48 points for the champions. McDonald collected 27 and Scallion, cage mentor at South Hagerstown High School, garnered 21.

Cop 6th Straight Title

Lover's Leap's 115-pound kingpins became champions for the sixth straight year, winning convincingly over Ced's Rascals in the opener of the quartet of championship games last night.

Managed by Eddie Root, the Lover's Leap tossers dominated play from the outset, leading by 11-8, 28-18 and 35-29 at the quarters. The victors were so outstanding in the tourney that three of their players made the 115-Pound Division all-tournament team.

Eugene Hare was the leading offensive threat for the Esso quint, the all-tournament player scoring 21 points on eight goals and 5-7 fouls. Lee Miller and Don Humbertson had 10 points apiece for the Rascals who were coached by Cedric Miller.

Manager Eddie Root made it two champions in a row when his Lover's Leap cagers captured the 135-Pound Division title in the second clash of the evening.

Bittner Heads Attack

Last year's runners-up eliminated one of two Police Boys Club teams also vying in tonight's final round with a 29-goal attack. The winners added 17 of 25 free throws and held the lead throughout the contest. Quarter scores were 14-6, 35-26, and 48-42.

Dick Bittner, an all-tourney selection on the Lover's Leap quint, scored 23 points on seven goals and 9-11 fouls. He was ably assisted by Bob Groves — also an all-tourney selectee — with 21 points, Eddie Brode with 18 and Jack Hill with 11.

PBC Defeats Steiner's

The Police Boys Club gained an even break in the finals when its Junior Unlimited quint copped the championship by defeating Steiner's Raiders to the tune of 80 to 61.

After jumping off to a 22-11 lead in the first period the P.B.C. never was headed. The score was 42-28 at halftime and 61-46 at the close of the third quarter.

Vincent Fagan, Piedmont High School star, slammed in 36 points for the victors and Jim Washington collected 22. Fagan had 16 field goals and 4-7 fouls. Phil Barbe headed Steiner's with 11 goals and 29 tallies while Wilt registered 17 points.

Phillies Defeat Pittsburgh, 7-4

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates lost three games in a row for the first time this spring when the Philadelphia Phils bombed them, 7-4, Friday before a crowd of some 6,000.

Robin Roberts, who entered the game without being scored upon in 23 1-3 innings this spring, had his streak shattered in the first inning when Dick Stuart hit a two-run homer.

Bob Friend and Roberts pitched the first four innings, tuning up for opening day. Friend left with the Bucs ahead, 4-1, but the Phils jumped on Harvey Haddix for six runs in the sixth inning on six hits, capped by Bobby Malkmus' two-run homer.

Cards Whip Yanks, 8-6

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — The St. Louis Cardinals lumped five runs in the sixth inning when the New York Yankees came apart at the seams Friday and went on to win their exhibition, 8-6.

The Redbirds began their half of the sixth inning trailing, 6-3. Consecutive singles by Hal Smith, Alex Grammas and Julian Javier loaded the bags. Then pitcher Danny McDevitt hit Don Landrum with a pitched ball to score Smith. Bill White drew a walk to score Grammas.

Yankee manager Ralph Houk then called in righthander Jim Coates to face Bob Nieman. Nieman walked and Javier scored. Catcher Yogi Berra then got into the act by interfering with Al Cicotte's swing and Cicotte was sent to first base, scoring Landrum.

Legislature Passes Fish, Game Bills

Five Of Interest To Area Sportsmen

Five bills of particular interest to sportsmen of Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties have been approved by the Maryland legislature and are now awaiting the signature of the governor. If signed they will become effective June 1.

House Bill No. 408 calls for no antlerless deer season in Allegany County unless the member of the Commission from the geographical section embracing the county agrees to such a season.

George D. Walters, of Eckhart, is a member of the Game and Inland Fish Commission representing Western Maryland and it is hinted that he will accede to the wishes of an overwhelming majority of the sportsmen in Allegany County who are opposed to an antlerless season.

This bill also calls for an antlerless deer season in the Hancock district of Washington County. The legislation is favored for that area due to an overabundance of deer and the damage they have caused to the orchards.

House Bill No. 358 requires hunters to report their deer kills within 24 hours after the animals have been slain.

Buzzards will be placed on the protected list of birds and the great horned owl will be removed from the protected list in Washington and Garrett counties, according to House Bill No. 694.

House Bill No. 813 permits the taking of carp and eels in Allegany County waters by use of a gig. There are few eels in Allegany County and carp are caught more easily with a gig than by hook and line.

An increase in penalties for game and fish violations and suspension of licenses for second convictions is provided by House Bill No. 409. Small game fines are now $10 to $50. The increase in fines will range from $25 to $100.

The Purple Heart Club earned a shot at the Cumberland Knights of Columbus for the championship of the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League by beating the Golden Nugget last night by the margin of 14 points, 74-60, in the last three games of their National Division playoff series.

Purple Heart, league champions last season, won the six-game series by 24 points, 133 to 109.

Bill Laurent headed the winners with 14 points and Gracie was high for Golden Nugget with 18.

The all-Cumberland championship series between the K. of C. and Purple Heart Club will be staged next week.

McDonald, Scallion Get 48; PBC Victor In Jr. Unlimited

A Hagerstown quint won the Senior Unlimited Division championship in the 16th annual Central YMCA-Jaycees basketball tournament last night when Noland's Garage of Hagerstown defeated Clise's Service Station in the fourth and final game on the program at the "Y" by the score of 81 to 73.

Teams from the Tri-Towns had won Senior Division honors for the past four years.

Noland's took a 17-9 lead in the first period, held a 7-point advantage at halftime, 37-30 and led 55-47 when the third period ended.

The Hub City quint sewed up the decision early in the final period by increasing its lead to 16 points. Clise's quint reeled off nine points in a row and pulled within seven points of Noland's several minutes before the final whistle.

Hoop 27 of 38 Fouls

Clise's team outscored Noland's 32 to 27 from the field but the Hagerstown team won the game at the foul line by sinking 27 of 38 shots while the opposition was converting 9 of 18 throws at the charity stripe.

Buck McDonald and Nick Scallion accounted for 48 points for the champions. McDonald collected 27 and Scallion, cage mentor at South Hagerstown High School, garnered 21.

Cop 6th Straight Title

Lover's Leap's 115-pound kingpins became champions for the sixth straight year, winning convincingly over Ced's Rascals in the opener of the quartet of championship games last night.

Managed by Eddie Root, the Lover's Leap tossers dominated play from the outset, leading by 11-8, 28-18 and 35-29 at the quarters. The victors were so outstanding in the tourney that three of their players made the 115-Pound Division all-tournament team.

Eugene Hare was the leading offensive threat for the Esso quint, the all-tournament player scoring 21 points on eight goals and 5-7 fouls. Lee Miller and Don Humbertson had 10 points apiece for the Rascals who were coached by Cedric Miller.

Manager Eddie Root made it two champions in a row when his Lover's Leap cagers captured the 135-Pound Division title in the second clash of the evening.

Bittner Heads Attack

Last year's runners-up eliminated one of two Police Boys Club teams also vying in tonight's final round with a 29-goal attack. The winners added 17 of 25 free throws and held the lead throughout the contest. Quarter scores were 14-6, 35-26, and 48-42.

Dick Bittner, an all-tourney selection on the Lover's Leap quint, scored 23 points on seven goals and 9-11 fouls. He was ably assisted by Bob Groves — also an all-tourney selectee — with 21 points, Eddie Brode with 18 and Jack Hill with 11.

Little Wayne Shook, playmaker with this season's Allegany High Campers, pumped in 22 points in a losing cause for the Police Boys Club five. Paul Green added 18 for Manager Johnny Daum's tossers.

PBC Defeats Steiner's

The Police Boys Club gained an even break in the finals when its Junior Unlimited quint copped the championship by defeating Steiner's Raiders to the tune of 80 to 61.

After jumping off to a 22-11 lead in the first period the P.B.C. never was headed. The score was 42-28 at halftime and 61-46 at the close of the third quarter.

Vincent Fagan, Piedmont High School star, slammed in 36 points for the victors and Jim Washington collected 22. Fagan had 16 field goals and 4-7 fouls. Phil Barbe headed Steiner's with 11 goals and 29 tallies while Wilt registered 17 points.

Phillies Defeat Pittsburgh, 7-4

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates lost three games in a row for the first time this spring when the Philadelphia Phils bombed them, 7-4, Friday before a crowd of some 6,000.

Robin Roberts, who entered the game without being scored upon in 23 1-3 innings this spring, had his streak shattered in the first inning when Dick Stuart hit a two-run homer.

Bob Friend and Roberts pitched the first four innings, tuning up for opening day. Friend left with the Bucs ahead, 4-1, but the Phils jumped on Harvey Haddix for six runs in the sixth inning on six hits, capped by Bobby Malkmus' two-run homer.

Cards Whip Yanks, 8-6

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — The St. Louis Cardinals lumped five runs in the sixth inning when the New York Yankees came apart at the seams Friday and went on to win their exhibition, 8-6.

The Redbirds began their half of the sixth inning trailing, 6-3. Consecutive singles by Hal Smith, Alex Grammas and Julian Javier loaded the bags. Then pitcher Danny McDevitt hit Don Landrum with a pitched ball to score Smith. Bill White drew a walk to score Grammas.

Yankee manager Ralph Houk then called in righthander Jim Coates to face Bob Nieman. Nieman walked and Javier scored. Catcher Yogi Berra then got into the act by interfering with Al Cicotte's swing and Cicotte was sent to first base, scoring Landrum.

Legislature Passes Fish, Game Bills

Five Of Interest To Area Sportsmen

Five bills of particular interest to sportsmen of Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties have been approved by the Maryland legislature and are now awaiting the signature of the governor. If signed they will become effective June 1.

House Bill No. 408 calls for no antlerless deer season in Allegany County unless the member of the Commission from the geographical section embracing the county agrees to such a season.

George D. Walters, of Eckhart, is a member of the Game and Inland Fish Commission representing Western Maryland and it is hinted that he will accede to the wishes of an overwhelming majority of the sportsmen in Allegany County who are opposed to an antlerless season.

This bill also calls for an antlerless deer season in the Hancock district of Washington County. The legislation is favored for that area due to an overabundance of deer and the damage they have caused to the orchards.

House Bill No. 358 requires hunters to report their deer kills within 24 hours after the animals have been slain.

Buzzards will be placed on the protected list of birds and the great horned owl will be removed from the protected list in Washington and Garrett counties, according to House Bill No. 694.

House Bill No. 813 permits the taking of carp and eels in Allegany County waters by use of a gig. There are few eels in Allegany County and carp are caught more easily with a gig than by hook and line.

An increase in penalties for game and fish violations and suspension of licenses for second convictions is provided by House Bill No. 409. Small game fines are now $10 to $50. The increase in fines will range from $25 to $100.

Purple Heart Beats Nugget

Will Play Caseys For Shuffle Crown

The Purple Heart Club earned a shot at the Cumberland Knights of Columbus for the championship of the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League by beating the Golden Nugget last night by the margin of 14 points, 74-60, in the last three games of their National Division playoff series.

Purple Heart, league champions last season, won the six-game series by 24 points, 133 to 109.

Bill Laurent headed the winners with 14 points and Gracie was high for Golden Nugget with 18.

The all-Cumberland championship series between the K. of C. and Purple Heart Club will be staged next week.

Gary Player Ties Palmer For Lead In Masters With 137

Bob Rosburg Trails Pair By 3 Strokes

Top 40 Golfers Qualify For Third Round At Augusta

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) —Gary Player, 152-pounder from South Africa who keeps chewing vitamins but never chokes up when there's money on the line, shot a sizzling 68 Friday to tie Arnold Palmer with a 137 total in the second round of the Masters golf championship.

Player, the leading money winner of the professional tour so far this year with earnings of $25,217.29 already, fashioned his four-under par total with a 35-33 that, coupled with his opening round 69, boosted him into a first place deadlock with Palmer, the 31-year-old defending champ.

Palmer had a creditable 35-34—69 after starting Friday's round tied for the lead with pudgy Bob Rosburg. Both shot 68's Thursday.

Rosburg broad-beamed exponent of the baseball grip, ran into three bogeys and carded a 37-36—73 that dropped him into third place, four strokes behind the co-leaders, with a total of 141.

Seven Others Better Par

Only seven other competitors in the star-studded 88-man field were able to better the 36-hole par of 144.

Don January of Dallas, who equal—led the day's best round of 68, was one stroke behind Rosburg with 142, while 49-year-old Byron Nelson, Lionel Hebert, Tommy Bolt, Walter Burkemo, Ken Venturi and amateur Charles Coe were stacked together at 143.

Paul Harney of Worcester, Mass., had a 71 Friday and stood even with par at 144. Jack Fleck, Fleck, Lew Worsham, Gene Littler and amateurs Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, and Bob Gardner of Elmsford, N.Y., all were one stroke over par with 145's.

The bulky field was trimmed to the low 40 players and ties after Thursday's round. Those who had 149 or better survived but among those who did not were former U. S. Open champion Julius Boros, two-time Masters winner Cary Middlecoff, George Bayer, former PGA champions Dow Finsterwald and Jim Turnesa, veteran Jimmy Demaret, Canadian PGAA champion Bill Kerr and U. S. Amateur champ Deane Beman.

Almost Gets Ace

Player was little short of amazing in putting together five birdies against one bogey compared with four birdies and one bogey for the longer-hitting Palmer.

Player drew a gasp from the crowd on the par three 155-yard 12th by almost getting an ace with his five-iron shot off the tee.

The ball plopped in the cup and then bounced out, 15 feet away from where Player two-putted for his par.

Wardensville Beats Jackets, 9-8; Pirates Down Ft. Ashby, 4-3

Keyser High School's defending champions registered their second straight win of the Potomac Valley Conference baseball season by nosing out the Romney High School Pioneers yesterday at Keyser by the score of 5-4.

Two other close games marked play in the conference on Friday with Paw Paw High's Pirates being returned the victors over Fort Ashby in extra innings, 4-3, while the Wardensville Warriors avenged an earlier 15-4 setback by spilling Moorefield High's Yellowjackets at Wardensville in a 9-8 battle.

Keyser won in the 7th and final frame when Jim Courrier led off with a single to right, pilfered second base, advanced to third on an overthrow and crossed the plate with the run that broke a 4-4 tie on an error by the catcher.

Turbin Scores In Relief

Terry Turbin, who replaced Jim Slaughter on the mound in the 4th inning with Romney took a 3-0 lead, was credited with the win. Carl went the route for the Pioneers who were making their initial start of the season.

Graham, Romney catcher, led the hitters, with a triple, double and single. Mathias and Machemer of Romney and Richard Rotruck of Keyser collected two hits each.

Slaughter and Turbin moved down ten batsmen on strikes.

Paul Kidwell outdueled Wayne Linn and Bob Barnes in a nine-inning battle that saw Paw Paw open its season with a 9th inning victory over Fort Ashby.

Hamilton's Hit Wins

Paw Paw tied the score at 3-all in the fifth and it stayed that way until the bottom of the 9th when the Pirates loaded the bases and Roland Hamilton hit one up the middle to score Guy Sharp with the deciding tally.

Kidwell scattered seven hits and whiffed six Fort Ashby stickers. Barnes, who relieved Linn in the 6th, was the losing pitcher. Linn, a southpaw, struck out nine.

Tommy Malcolm, Paul Kidwell and Powell of Paw Paw and Linn and Lindley Newcomer of Fort Ashby, obtained two hits each.

Al Smith Is Hero

Alvin Smith, right fielder, was the hero in Wardensville's victory over Moorefield. During a six-run rally in the fourth inning marked by four hits and three walks, Smith produced a two-run single after the Warriors loaded the hassocks and in the 9th a broken bat single by Smith with three aboard and two out scored Dixon Orndorff with the run that won the game.

Wardensville rapped Moorefield pitching for 13 hits, six of which were shared by Dixon Orndorff, Heishman and Alvin Smith. Dave Vance, Moorefield shortstop, also collected three safeties.

Dixon Orndorff went all the way for the Warriors, yielded nine hits, fanned nine and issued eight passes. Wardney Sherman was the loser.

Seymour Hawks Can Win Series With Lovelette

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "If we win two this weekend," St. Louis Hawks' Coach Paul Seymour said Friday, "we can win the title. I think we can."

Seymour made the remarks while watching his club work out in preparation for Saturday's third game of the best-of-seven National Basketball Association playoff final against Boston. Game time is 2 p.m. EST. It will be televised nationally.

The Celtics hold a 2-0 lead, built on consecutive victories in Boston by a total of 42 points.

One reason for Seymour's optimism was the availability of 6-foot-9 Clyde Lovellette, out for 12 days with a muscle spasm in his lower back.

Lovellette worked out and afterward said he felt ready for limited duty. He averaged 20.3 points against the Celtics during the regular season.

Angels Obtain Ray Semproch

Both the American League's new teams need strengthening on the mound. Although Semproch had a poor exhibition season, the Angels claimed him for the $20,000 waiver price. Semproch, 30, posted a 3-0 record while relieving for the Detroit Tigers last year. He was handicapped for a while this spring by a sore arm.

The transaction cut Washington's roster to the required maximum of 28 players for the opener against the Chicago White Sox on Monday.

Autry Will Throw Out First Ball

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gene Autry, a former shortstop who gained fame as a cowboy entertainer, will throw out the first ball Tuesday as Baltimore and Los Angeles open their American League baseball seasons.

Autry is chairman of the board of the new Los Angeles team, which is making its major league debut.

Maryland Tossers Defeat Brown, 6-2

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Maryland won its first baseball game of the season against four losses Friday, defeating Brown 6-2 as sophomore Barry Scammell struck out nine men in his collegiate pitching debut.

Scammell, a southpaw, walked five batters and hit four, but three Maryland double plays helped him out. One of them came with the bases loaded.

Brown outfielder Glenn Cashion had four for four at the plate. He drove in one run in the third when Brown did all its scoring.

Brown has six losses for the year against a single victory.

Salem Hands Potomac State Third Defeat

Tigers Score 8-4 Victory At Keyser

Salem College's Tigers handed Potomac State College its third straight defeat of the campaign yesterday in a West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference baseball game at Keyser by the score of 8-4.

Potomac State knocked Lefty Stewart out of the box and took a 4-1 lead in the fourth inning but Salem knotted the score at 4-4 in the sixth and sewed up the decision with two tallies in the 7th and a like number in the ninth frame.

Cecil Perkins, who supplanted Stewart on the mound in the fourth limited the Catamounts to one hit in the last six frames and received credit for the win. He struck out nine.

Lefty Dave Wilson, who started on the slab for Potomac and yielded seven hits and six runs in 7 innings, was tagged with the loss. He whiffed nine.

Ramos May Return To Fight In Cuba

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Minnesota Twins may lose a top pitcher if the anti-Castro pot starts really boiling in Cuba.

Pedro Ramos indicated Friday he might have to return to his Cuban home "within a week or two" if actual fighting breaks out against the Communist-slanted regime in his homeland.

Ramos, tabbed as the Twins' starter in the American League opener at New York Tuesday, told Manager Cookie Lavagetto he has volunteered his services to the forces opposing Premier Fidel Castro and feels obligated to serve if called upon.

King, Jr., varsity basketball coach at West Virginia University, will be the guest speaker at Keyser High School's annual All Sports banquet to be held Wednesday, April 19, at 6:30 p. m. at the Loyal Order of Moose Home, Keyser, it was announced yesterday by John R. Shelton, assistant principal.

Honored guests for the evening's affair will be members of the school's athletic teams and the winner of the 16th annual Sgt. J. Edward Kelley Memorial Award for sportsmanship.

King made his debut as head coach at West Virginia at the start of the 1960-61 season and his Mountaineers posted 23 victories and lost four games. He was voted the coach of the year in the Southern Conference and was fifth in the voting for the United Press International coach of the year award.

In 1951 King played amateur ball with the Phillips Oilers and the next year turned professional with the Fort Wayne Pistons and played in the N.B.A. for six seasons.

Moore Defends Title Tonight

Davey Faces Valdez In California Bout

Valdez, 21, is not exactly a household name, especially to followers of boxing east of the Rockies. But he does rank in the top 10 of the world's featherweights.

The rating, and the chance to meet the champion from Springfield, Ohio, came late last year when he knocked out Ricardo Gonzalez of Argentina, then the No. 1 contender.

"I don't underplay anyone, long as he has two feet and two fists," said Moore, 27, Friday.

The fight, which will not be televised nor broadcast, is slated to go on about 9:30 p.m. PST.

Laurel Plans Novelty Race

Ruckert To Race Horse, Automobile

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — A race Saturday between a man, a horse and an automobile has been billed as a novelty race by officials at Laurel Race Course.

The former University of Maryland track star won $50 from his college classmates in 1949 when he ran 32 miles between the outskirts of Washington and Baltimore. He passed through Laurel on his non-stop run.

On another occasion, he participated in a 7½ mile canoe race on the Potomac River. And once, he was runner-up in the national canoe tilting championships — the sport of jousting on water.

In more orthodox sports, Ruckert was a member of Maryland's one-mile relay team which won the Southern Conference title in 1949 and he reached the semi-finals one year in the Washington area Golden Gloves boxing tournament.

Ruckert, now 36 and an assistant track coach at his alma mater, has been training for about a month for tomorrow's race, which was postponed last Saturday because of a muddy track.

"I'm not training to set any records," he said. "It's just so I can finish the race on my feet."

Ruckert has been assigned a distance of 600 yards in the handicap race. The horse will travel six furlongs and the automobile, a 1911 Ford Torpedo, must cover one mile.

Gary Player Ties Palmer For Lead In Masters With 137

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) —Gary Player, 152-pounder from South Africa who keeps chewing vitamins but never chokes up when there's money on the line, shot a sizzling 68 Friday to tie Arnold Palmer with a 137 total in the second round of the Masters golf championship.

Player, the leading money winner of the professional tour so far this year with earnings of $25,217.29 already, fashioned his four-under par total with a 35-33 that, coupled with his opening round 69, boosted him into a first place deadlock with Palmer, the 31-year-old defending champ.

Palmer had a creditable 35-34—69 after starting Friday's round tied for the lead with pudgy Bob Rosburg. Both shot 68's Thursday.

Rosburg broad-beamed exponent of the baseball grip, ran into three bogeys and carded a 37-36—73 that dropped him into third place, four strokes behind the co-leaders, with a total of 141.

Seven Others Better Par

Only seven other competitors in the star-studded 88-man field were able to better the 36-hole par of 144.

Don January of Dallas, who equal—led the day's best round of 68, was one stroke behind Rosburg with 142, while 49-year-old Byron Nelson, Lionel Hebert, Tommy Bolt, Walter Burkemo, Ken Venturi and amateur Charles Coe were stacked together at 143.

Paul Harney of Worcester, Mass., had a 71 Friday and stood even with par at 144. Jack Fleck, Fleck, Lew Worsham, Gene Littler and amateurs Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, and Bob Gardner of Elmsford, N.Y., all were one stroke over par with 145's.

The bulky field was trimmed to the low 40 players and ties after Thursday's round. Those who had 149 or better survived but among those who did not were former U. S. Open champion Julius Boros, two-time Masters winner Cary Middlecoff, George Bayer, former PGA champions Dow Finsterwald and Jim Turnesa, veteran Jimmy Demaret, Canadian PGAA champion Bill Kerr and U. S. Amateur champ Deane Beman.

Almost Gets Ace

Player was little short of amazing in putting together five birdies against one bogey compared with four birdies and one bogey for the longer-hitting Palmer.

The ball plopped in the cup and then bounced out, 15 feet away from where Player two-putted for his par.

Keyser Tops Romney, 5-4, Warriors, Paw Paw Win

Wardensville Beats Jackets, 9-8; Pirates Down Ft. Ashby, 4-3

Keyser High School's defending champions registered their second straight win of the Potomac Valley Conference baseball season by nosing out the Romney High School Pioneers yesterday at Keyser by the score of 5-4.

Two other close games marked play in the conference on Friday with Paw Paw High's Pirates being returned the victors over Fort Ashby in extra innings, 4-3, while the Wardensville Warriors avenged an earlier 15-4 setback by spilling Moorefield High's Yellowjackets at Wardensville in a 9-8 battle.

Keyser won in the 7th and final frame when Jim Courrier led off with a single to right, pilfered second base, advanced to third on an overthrow and crossed the plate with the run that broke a 4-4 tie on an error by the catcher.

Turbin Scores In Relief

Terry Turbin, who replaced Jim Slaughter on the mound in the 4th inning with Romney took a 3-0 lead, was credited with the win. Carl went the route for the Pioneers who were making their initial start of the season.

Graham, Romney catcher, led the hitters, with a triple, double and single. Mathias and Machemer of Romney and Richard Rotruck of Keyser collected two hits each.

Slaughter and Turbin moved down ten batsmen on strikes.

Hamilton's Hit Wins

Paw Paw tied the score at 3-all in the fifth and it stayed that way until the bottom of the 9th when the Pirates loaded the bases and Roland Hamilton hit one up the middle to score Guy Sharp with the deciding tally.

Kidwell scattered seven hits and whiffed six Fort Ashby stickers. Barnes, who relieved Linn in the 6th, was the losing pitcher. Linn, a southpaw, struck out nine.

Tommy Malcolm, Paul Kidwell and Powell of Paw Paw and Linn and Lindley Newcomer of Fort Ashby, obtained two hits each.

Al Smith Is Hero

Alvin Smith, right fielder, was the hero in Wardensville's victory over Moorefield. During a six-run rally in the fourth inning marked by four hits and three walks, Smith produced a two-run single after the Warriors loaded the hassocks and in the 9th a broken bat single by Smith with three aboard and two out scored Dixon Orndorff with the run that won the game.

Wardensville rapped Moorefield pitching for 13 hits, six of which were shared by Dixon Orndorff, Heishman and Alvin Smith. Dave Vance, Moorefield shortstop, also collected three safeties.

Dixon Orndorff went all the way for the Warriors, yielded nine hits, fanned nine and issued eight passes. Wardney Sherman was the loser.

Seymour Hawks Can Win Series With Lovelette

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "If we win two this weekend," St. Louis Hawks' Coach Paul Seymour said Friday, "we can win the title. I think we can."

Seymour made the remarks while watching his club work out in preparation for Saturday's third game of the best-of-seven National Basketball Association playoff final against Boston. Game time is 2 p.m. EST. It will be televised nationally.

The Celtics hold a 2-0 lead, built on consecutive victories in Boston by a total of 42 points.

One reason for Seymour's optimism was the availability of 6-foot-9 Clyde Lovellette, out for 12 days with a muscle spasm in his lower back.

Lovellette worked out and afterward said he felt ready for limited duty. He averaged 20.3 points against the Celtics during the regular season.

Angels Obtain Ray Semproch

Both the American League's new teams need strengthening on the mound. Although Semproch had a poor exhibition season, the Angels claimed him for the $20,000 waiver price. Semproch, 30, posted a 3-0 record while relieving for the Detroit Tigers last year. He was handicapped for a while this spring by a sore arm.

The transaction cut Washington's roster to the required maximum of 28 players for the opener against the Chicago White Sox on Monday.

Autry Will Throw Out First Ball

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gene Autry, a former shortstop who gained fame as a cowboy entertainer, will throw out the first ball Tuesday as Baltimore and Los Angeles open their American League baseball seasons.

Autry is chairman of the board of the new Los Angeles team, which is making its major league debut.

Salem Hands Potomac State Third Defeat

Tigers Score 8-4 Victory At Keyser

Salem College's Tigers handed Potomac State College its third straight defeat of the campaign yesterday in a West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference baseball game at Keyser by the score of 8-4.

Potomac State knocked Lefty Stewart out of the box and took a 4-1 lead in the fourth inning but Salem knotted the score at 4-4 in the sixth and sewed up the decision with two tallies in the 7th and a like number in the ninth frame.

Cecil Perkins, who supplanted Stewart on the mound in the fourth limited the Catamounts to one hit in the last six frames and received credit for the win. He struck out nine.

Lefty Dave Wilson, who started on the slab for Potomac and yielded seven hits and six runs in 7 innings, was tagged with the loss. He whiffed nine.

Davey Faces Valdez In California Bout

Valdez, 21, is not exactly a household name, especially to followers of boxing east of the Rockies. But he does rank in the top 10 of the world's featherweights.

The rating, and the chance to meet the champion from Springfield, Ohio, came late last year when he knocked out Ricardo Gonzalez of Argentina, then the No. 1 contender.

"I don't underplay anyone, long as he has two feet and two fists," said Moore, 27, Friday.

The fight, which will not be televised nor broadcast, is slated to go on about 9:30 p.m. PST.

Laurel Plans Novelty Race

Ruckert To Race Horse, Automobile

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — A race Saturday between a man, a horse and an automobile has been billed as a novelty race by officials at Laurel Race Course.

But Jim Ruckert, who will do the foot racing, has become accustomed to unusual sports competition.

The former University of Maryland track star won $50 from his college classmates in 1949 when he ran 32 miles between the outskirts of Washington and Baltimore. He passed through Laurel on his non-stop run.

On another occasion, he participated in a 7½ mile canoe race on the Potomac River. And once, he was runner-up in the national canoe tilting championships — the sport of jousting on water.

In more orthodox sports, Ruckert was a member of Maryland's one-mile relay team which won the Southern Conference title in 1949 and he reached the semi-finals one year in the Washington area Golden Gloves boxing tournament.

Ruckert, now 36 and an assistant track coach at his alma mater, has been training for about a month for tomorrow's race, which was postponed last Saturday because of a muddy track.

"I'm not training to set any records," he said. "It's just so I can finish the race on my feet."

Ruckert has been assigned a distance of 600 yards in the handicap race. The horse will travel six furlongs and the automobile, a 1911 Ford Torpedo, must cover one mile.

Market Climbs To Near All Time High Average

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market climbed Friday to a new 1961 recovery peak as measured by one of the major barometers.

The spotty advance carried some issues up as much as 4 points but the list was generously sprinkled with losses.

Trading zoomed over the 5-million-share mark for the first time in three days after a decline attributed to a call for caution on the part of investors by the president of the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks advanced 4.34 to 683.68, topping its previous 1961 high of 679.38 attained March 22. The average now is nudging the all-time higher of 685.47 established Jan. 5, 1960.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .80 to 244.10 with industrials up 1.70, rails up .4 and utilities unchanged.

Volume for the day totaled 5.1 million shares, compared with 4.91 million Thursday.

The breadth of the market contracted with 1,279 issues traded. Advances totaled 650 and declines 423. There were 130 new 1961 highs and 7 new lows.

The most active list showed a majority of gainers with nine issues advancing, three declining and three unchanged.

American Stock Exchange prices advanced in heavy trading. Volume totaled 3.9 million, compared with 3.69 million Thursday.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. governments advanced. Volume on the New York Stock Exchange dipped to $6.19 million par value from $6.98 million Thursday.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Soybeans became active and irregular after attaining new highs for the season Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

May wheat gained more than a cent, but other grains were slow and mostly steady.

Wheat closed off ¼ to up 1⅜, corn off ⅝ to up ¼, oats off ¼ to up ⅛, rye off ⅛ to up ½, soybeans off 1 to up 1¼ and drummed lard up 5 to 40 points.

Selling increased in late dealings on a report Red China will offer soybeans for sale at its trade fair on April 15. Soybean futures sold off as much as 7 cents a bushel before rallying. Meal and oil contracts also tumbled.

Commission buying and short covering raised the May wheat delivery, but other months ranged from steady to easier. A large mill bought 300,000 bushels of yellow hard wheat. Flour mills were also buyers.

Corn eased on commission and elevator selling. Commercial houses bought May. Spreading remained active, with most deals moving from May to December positions.

Spot corn firmed on an active demand. Sales were reported on a 1-cent below May basis for the number 2 yellow grade.

Market Climbs To Near All Time High Average

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market climbed Friday to a new 1961 recovery peak as measured by one of the major barometers.

The spotty advance carried some issues up as much as 4 points but the list was generously sprinkled with losses.

Trading zoomed over the 5-million-share mark for the first time in three days after a decline attributed to a call for caution on the part of investors by the president of the New York Stock Exchange.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .80 to 244.10 with industrials up 1.70, rails up .4 and utilities unchanged.

Brokers pointed out that the important strength was spotted in specific places.

Volume for the day totaled 5.1 million shares, compared with 4.91 million Thursday.

The breadth of the market contracted with 1,279 issues traded. Advances totaled 650 and declines 423. There were 130 new 1961 highs and 7 new lows.

American Stock Exchange prices advanced in heavy trading. Volume totaled 3.9 million, compared with 3.69 million Thursday.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Soybeans became active and irregular after attaining new highs for the season Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

May wheat gained more than a cent, but other grains were slow and mostly steady.

Wheat closed off ¼ to up 1⅜, corn off ⅛ to up ¼, oats off ¼ to up ⅛, rye off ⅛ to up ½, soybeans off 1 to up 1¼ and drummed lard up 5 to 40 points.

A heavy buildup of buy orders pushed old crop soybeans to new highs at the opening tap of the bell. Futures climbed about 5 cents despite heavy profit-taking until around noon.

Selling increased in late dealings on a report Red China will offer soybeans for sale at its trade fair on April 15. Soybean futures sold off as much as 7 cents a bushel before rallying. Meal and oil contracts also tumbled.

Commission buying and short covering raised the May wheat delivery, but other months ranged from steady to easier. A large mill bought 300,000 bushels of yellow hard wheat. Flour mills were also buyers.

Corn eased on commission and elevator selling. Commercial houses bought May. Spreading remained active, with most deals moving from May to December positions.

Spot corn firmed on an active demand. Sales were reported on a 1-cent below May basis for the number 2 yellow grade.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Bertie Eshbaugh, who passed away a year ago, April 8, 1960.

Dearest Mother, you are gone,
But your memories so sweet, linger on,
There are others who miss you so,
But not as much as your children, you know,
As we wait for God to call our name,
Tho, He took you away, we will meet again some day,
Then we will always be together hand in hand in that heavenly land.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Bertie Eshbaugh, who passed away a year ago, April 8, 1960.

Dearest Mother, you are gone,
But your memories so sweet, linger on,
There are others who miss you so,
But not as much as your children, you know,
As we wait for God to call our name,
Tho, He took you away, we will meet again some day,
Then we will always be together hand in hand in that heavenly land.
Sadly missed by your children, JEAN, ETHEL, SHIRLEY, CHARLES AND WILLIAM

Secrets Of Charm

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Slick Chicks Click

There's nothing more exciting than a party... the big evening you mark off in red on your calendar. And there's nothing more disappointing than a party at which you don't have a good time. There are times when a girl feels she didn't rate with her date... or click with the crowd.

What is it that makes girls popular?

Lets ask the boys.

No one has a monopoly on popularity, and there are many ways of achieving it. There are as many ways as there are people in the crowd. Stop and think about some of the popular girls you know. Do they all have just one kind of good looks? Is there only one brand of personality? Do they all smile the same way? Of course not... you know this is ridiculous. They are just themselves.

There are a few things that every girl needs in order to have party popularity. Check over the following and see if you are an example of each. If not, start working on them. And, remember, practice makes perfect.

1. Be on time— no one likes alibis. 2. Be friendly— mix with the crowd. 3. Smile —then you can't be anything but popular; sulk and you'll sulk alone... at home! 4. Watch your manners. 5. Be modest. 6. Be neat. 7. Be a good sport — an unco-operative guest will be quickly crossed off invitation lists. 8. Behave yourself—don't do anything you'll regret tomorrow. 9. Be interested —no one goes for gloom or a bored look.

The secret is to be yourself; and be your BEST self!

Reports To Board On Used Car Lot

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, yesterday informed the board that the county has no jurisdiction in connection with the establishment of a used car lot on Oldtown Road, a mile and three-tenths south of Cumberland.

Robert Beckman has obtained a permit for a small building on the tract along the highway and has obtained a trader's license. Twenty one residents in the neighborhood of the lot sent the county board a petition to protest the new establishment.

The petition said the lot would depreciate residential property values in that area, and would constitute both a road and health hazard.

Secrets Of Charm

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Slick Chicks Click

There's nothing more exciting than a party ... the big evening you mark off in red on your calendar. And there's nothing more disappointing than a party at which you don't have a good time. There are times when a girl feels she didn't rate with her date ... or click with the crowd.

What is it that makes girls popular?

Lets ask the boys.

On the plus side, the boys perfer a girl who: has a pleasant personality; is a good dancer; uses good manners, and is good looking.

No one has a monopoly on popularity, and there are many ways of achieving it. There are as many ways as there are people in the crowd. Stop and think about some of the popular girls you know. Do they all have just one kind of good looks? Is there only one brand of personality? Do they all smile the same way? Of course not ... you know this is ridiculous. They are just themselves.

There are a few things that every girl needs in order to have party popularity. Check over the following and see if you are an example of each. If not, start working on them. And, remember, practice makes perfect.

1. Be on time— no one likes alibis. 2. Be friendly— mix with the crowd. 3. Smile ——then you can't be anything but popular; sulk and you'll sulk alone ... at home! 4. Watch your manners. 5. Be modest. 6. Be neat. 7. Be a good sport — an unco-operative guest will be quickly crossed off invitation lists. 8. Behave yourself—don't do anything you'll regret tomorrow. 9. Be interested —no one goes for gloom or a bored look.

The secret is to be yourself; and be your BEST self!

Reports To Board On Used Car Lot

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, yesterday informed the board that the county has no jurisdiction in connection with the establishment of a used car lot or Oldtown Road, a mile and three-tenths south of Cumberland.

Robert Beckman has obtained a permit for a small building on the tract along the highway and has obtained a trader's license. Twenty one residents in the neighborhood of the lot sent the county board a petition to protest the new establishment.

The petition said the lot would depreciate residential property values in that area, and would constitute both a road and health hazard.

Celanese Pact Will Include 2% Increase

Final Ratification Meeting Set Today

Members of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, last night voted to ratify a contract providing for a two per cent increase in the wages of hourly rated workers at the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company.

Final action on the one-year agreement will be taken at a second membership meeting planned today at 10:30 a. m. at the union hall on North Centre Street.

James R. Stewart, Local 1874 president, said the proposed contract was approved last night without a dissenting vote by some 600 members who overflowed the union hall.

The agreement will provide a four or five-cent-an-hour boost for workers at the plant and will become effective April 9 at 7 a. m.

The tentative agreement was reached yesterday afternoon by negotiators for the company and the union.

The present agreement was due to expire today at midnight.

Judge Affirms Appeals Board

The Board of Appeals of the State Department of Employment Security was affirmed by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in two appeals heard yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

One appeal was brought by John Morris, 121 Pennsylvania Avenue, against 71 Taxi Company, Front Street, and the State Department of Employment Security.

In this case, the Board of Appeals had reversed the determination of the claims specialist that Mr. Morris, a taxi dispatcher, was unable or unavailable for work and the board denied him unemployment compensation benefits for the week of May 21,1960.

Claimant in the second case was Theodore Grove, 376 Bowling Avenue, Bowling Green, and the defendants were Vic's Construction Company, RFD 5, and the State Department of Employment Security.

Mr. Grove was employed by Vic's Construction Company as a carpenter's helper until April 8, 1960. He then received eight weekly benefit checks totaling $296. The Board of Appeals ruled that he had insufficient earnings in covered employment during 1959 and the $296 he received constituted an overpayment.

Both claimants were represented by Attorney William Walsh. The defense attorney in both cases was J. N. Phillips of Baltimore.

Tighter Law Urged For Junkyards

Recommendations from the Allegany County Planning and Zoning Commission to tighten the regulations on junkyards in the county were referred yesterday to Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the Board of County Commissioners.

The recommendations were adopted February 2 by the planning group as they were presented by Julian Tarrant of the Ladislas Segoe and Associates' planning consultant firm.

One of the proposed improvements in the law would require an eight-foot-high fence around any junkyard so that the piled junk would not be visible from outside. Any such fence within 500 feet of a road would have to be painted and maintained in good condition.

Mr. Clark was asked to use these recommendations as a guide in drawing up changes to tighten the junkyard ordinance of the county.

Three Churches Benefit From Man's Estate

William Raymond Shank, a 52-year-old Cresaptown man who died last July 25, left $100 each to three different Cresaptown churches and a like amount to the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company, according to his will which was probated yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

Mr. Shank's will, which was dated just three days before his death in Memorial Hospital, also provided cash bequests to his four sisters and four brothers as well as a number of nieces and nephews.

All of the rest of his estate after these cash bequests was left to the Loyal Order of Moose for the benefit of the Mooseheart Home for Children, Mooseheart, Ill. The benefitting churches are the Methodist, of which he was a member, the Pentecostal and Calvary Baptist.

A sister, Mrs. Georgiana Shank Duckworth, RFD 2, Baltimore, qualified as executrix of the estate under a $2,000 bond.

Liquor Unit May Find Work Lighter In '62

House Group Seeks Change In Rules

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Committee on Alcoholic Beverages, one of the busiest in the Maryland House of Delegates, may find its load lightened next year.

If so, a controversial beer tax proposal will be responsible.

At present the committee receives, under House rules, every bill relating to alcoholic beverages. And these are many. It is the only committee of the legislature that receives a big batch of local, as well as statewide, bills.

Included sometimes are such fiscal hot potatoes as a veterans bonus and state employe salaries. The Alcholic Beverages Committee gets them only because they call for increasing the beer and-or wine tax.

The House Ways and Means Committee voted last Saturday, just before the windup of the legislature's 90-day session, to seek a change in the House rules next year. "If these are tax bills they should come here in the first place," said Chairman A. Gordon Boone, D-Balto County, to general murmurs of approval from committee members.

Beer Tax

The fiscal committee had received—in the last four days of the session—a red hot proposal introduced on Jan. 26 to raise the state's beer and wine taxes.

Chargined sponsors petitioned it out of the Alcoholic Beverages Committee on March 29 because the committee was "sitting on it." It came out without a report—either favorable or unfavorable—and was dispatched to the Ways and Means Committee.

The bill was gaining renown in the legislature because George H. Hocker, brewery representative, is a close friend and adviser of Gov. Tawes and was assumed to be opposed to the bill. It became known as "the Hocker rocker."

When the Ways and Means Committee took it up, the measure generated considerable heat before it was turned down by a 13-12 vote, as a substitute for a cigarette tax hike backed by the administration.

Boone Complains

Boone complained the committee had the measure for an insufficient time to consider it along with other fiscal matters. Besides, he said, the beer tax should be tapped for future state needs.

Sponsors again petitioned the bill to the floor, in the final hours of the session, and it sank 82-49—again on the arguments that it was considered too late. Del. Charles M. Moore, D-Harford, one of the sponsors, told the House the beer bill would be back next year.

A $90 million veterans bonus bill sponsored annually by Sen. Harry T. Phoebus, R-Somerset, suffered a similar fate in 1959 when it received "courtesy" passage in the Senate and went into an apparent graveyard in the House Alcoholic Beverages Committee.

But bonus backers marshalled enough support to bring it to the floor in the midst of a Senate-House dispute over teachers salary and the House adjourned abruptly.

Phoebus later charged that "Mr. Hocker adjourned the House" to avoid the beer tax in the bonus proposal.

Church Plans Sunday School Campaign

The Church of God Sunday school, Fifth and Seymour streets, will begin a six-week enlargement campaign Sunday. A special effort will be made to reach the unchurched families of the city during the six weeks, according to Rev. Charles D. Coley, pastor.

Ronald D. Carr is superintendent of the Sunday school which has a class for every age.

Beautification Project

These Fort Hill High School student leaders are doing their bit to "Keep Maryland Beautiful" by planting half a dozen white spruce trees on the school grounds. Sylvia Beaver, kneeling, junior high student council treasurer, holds a tree while Pat Shannon, president of the senior high student council, shovels in some dirt. Susan Crawford, junior high student council president, mans another shovel in the background as Carole Smith, senior council vice president, holds a tree.

County Issues Six Permits For Dwellings

Six more permits for new dwellings, costing a total of $79,000, were issued yesterday in the office of James G. Stevenson, clerk to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Robert E. Miller, 803 Ridgedale Avenue, was issued a permit for a $20,000 brick house which he plans to build on Oldtown Road in Election District 16. It will be 28.6 feet by 70 feet in size. Thomas J. Seach, 11 Frederick Street, obtained a permit for a $15,000 brick house which he plans in part of the Narrows Park acreage in Election District 29. It will be 33 by 58 feet in size.

Clyde S. Slider, 811 Louisiana Avenue, obtained permits to construct two $14,000 dwellings on Vocke Lane in Election District 29. Both will be 28 by 44 feet in size and will be of brick construction.

The permits for the other two dwellings estimated their cost at $8,000 each. David D. Harris, Flintstone, obtained one of them for a 28 by 40 foot brick house he proposes to build in Election District 3 at Flintstone. Eugene Horton, 18 North Lee Street, obtained a permit for a 24 by 32 foot frame dwelling he plans to build in Election District 29, LaVale.

A decided boost in building activity if reflected by the building permits issued in the first week of April. There have been 16 in this first week compared with 39 during the entire month of March, which was the best in total volume of construction since last August.

C. A. Jewell, 64 Marion Street, has been appointed business representative of Local 947, Painters Union, according to John Bean, Local 947 president.

RC To Begin Course For Gray Ladies

The Allegany Chapter, American Red Cross, will begin a course for Gray Ladies May 4, according to Mrs. Sara Lindsay, executive secretary.

Beginning at 10 a. m. a two-hour orientation program will be conducted by Mrs. Robert Gerson, area chairman of volunteers. The afternoon session will begin at 1 p. m. with a two-hour introduction to Gray Lady service under the direction of Mrs. Edward Naughton, chairman of Gray Ladies.

Introduction to hospital work, covering six hours will be arranged at the first session. Some on the job training will be required to complete the course.

The purpose of the course is to prepare Gray Ladies for volunteer service in Memorial and Sacred Heart hospitals and Allegany County Infirmary.

Gray Ladies service began in 1918 when a group of volunteers started serving patients at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington. They first worked as hostesses in recreation activities but when sick and injured soldiers returned from European battles, they began to give more personal service to individual patients in the wards. The gray dress adopted as the official uniforms caused the patients to refer to the volunteers affectionately as the Gray Ladies.

In addition to service in times of natural disasters, Gray Ladies join forces with other Red Cross Workers to help the chapter carry out its primary responsibility for the welfare of disaster victims. In the event of an enemy caused disaster, Red Cross workers will be called upon to assist in Civil Defense efforts.

Applications for the course are now being received through the local Red Cross Office. Any one interested in becoming a member of the Gray Ladies may call PA 2-1760.

Teachers' Unit Discusses Salary Status

Members of the legislative committee of the Allegany County Teachers Association met yesterday afternoon with Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster and discussed possible action to improve their salary situation.

When the Board of County Commissioners adopted the annual levy list Tuesday morning for the fiscal year starting July 1, it provided a $100 increase in all teachers' salaries and similar improvements in the salaries of principals, supervisors, secretaries and custodians. That will make the teachers' salary range from $3,900 to $6,000 in the 12th year with a bachelor's degree.

The legislative group had asked for a schedule beginning at $4,000 and reaching a top of $6,200. They are particularly concerned with the fact that the county commissioners made no provisions in their levy for using an estimated $550,000 which the county is expected to receive from the state from cigarette taxes and a lower base for sales tax.

Leslie J. Clark, county attorney, explained that the commissioners legally could not take this money into account because they are not certain of the details of the bills and Governor J. Millard Tawes has not yet signed them.

Fox Posts $1,000 Bond On Charges

A local man yesterday was released on $1,000 bond to await a hearing in Trial Magistrate Court on gaming charges.

Richard K. Fox, rear of 110 Utah Avenue, was released after posting $500 bond on two charges at a hearing before Magistrate Paul W. Barnett.

Fox was charged with unlawfully keeping or managing a gaming table or other place for gambling, or having an interest in a gaming table or profits.

The two warrants against Fox were obtained earlier this week by Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney for Allegany County.

The hearing on the two charges will be heard at a later date before Magistrate Barnett.

Dean Discusses Social Work

About 50 interested persons from Allegany and Garrett counties attended a luncheon yesterday at the Fort Cumberland Hotel at which Dr. Verl Lewis, dean of the new graduate school of social work at the University of Maryland, described the program which the new school will offer when it starts on the Baltimore campus in September.

Miss Ethel Wilderman, director of the Allegany County Welfare Department, explained that it will take two years of graduate study to obtain a master's degree in social work. She said that the new dean formerly taught at the University of Connecticut.

Thomas J. S. Waxter, director of the State Welfare Department, also attended and discussed the effect of certain state and federal welfare legislation which has been enacted or is in process of being enacted.

Five members of the Allegany County Welfare Board were among those attending. Included were George K. Steiner, chairman; County Commissioner John T. Mason, Harry I. Stegmaier, Rev. Charles W. Bogan and Mrs. William A. Douglas.

ABL Research Paves Way For Rocket Advance

12,000-Mile Range Claimed For Titan

Rocket fuel research at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory has helped open the way for work on a new rocket that could be fired halfway around the world, the Baltimore Evening Sun said yesterday.

The Evening Sun, in a front page story, reported that the Martin Company is developing the 12,000-mile rocket.

That's a range of 2,000 miles farther than any known Soviet rocket, 4,000 miles more than any yet achieved by a United States intercontinental ballistic missile, and nearly twice the planned range of any U.S. solid-fuel rocket, according to the newspaper story.

Work on the new rocket, called Titan III, has been in progress at Martin's Denver, Colo., plant for at least six months, and the company's Middle River (Md.) plant also may be working on it, according to the newspaper.

The Air Force, to which Martin officials referred inquiries about the rocket, said it had no such project, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

The Evening Sun said the research that led to the improved solid fuel was done in part at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, a Navy owned plant near Pinto which is operated by Hercules Powder Company.

Titan III represents a "third generation" in a series developed by Martin. The first series uses liquid fuel, the second generation, storable liquid fuel.

The new project reportedly is the result of a significant breakthrough in the development of solid propellants which burn more evenly and hence yield greater thrust. The improved fuel thus provides better directional control and permits reduction in guidance equipment.

ABL, which has done considerable research on cast double-base solid propellants, designed and produced the X-248 Altair rocket which has a record of 24 successes in as many firings. It also produces second-stage Polaris missile engines using an advanced solid fuel.

Local Delegates To Take Part In Youth Forum

Mrs. Yankelevitz and Miss Hyde will report on a regional Youth Commission conference held last fall in Hancock. Mrs. Bowie will talk on the work of the Allegany County Youth Commission.

The one-day conference will open at 11:30 a. m. in the University of Maryland Library.

Thomas J. S. Waxter, committee chairman, will preside.

Judge Affirms Appeals Board

The Board of Appeals of the State Department of Employment Security was affirmed by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in two appeals heard yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

One appeal was brought by John Morris, 121 Pennsylvania Avenue, against 71 Taxi Company, Front Street, and the State Department of Employment Security.

In this case, the Board of Appeals had reversed the determination of the claims specialist that Mr. Morris, a taxi dispatcher, was unable or unavailable for work and the board denied him unemployment compensation benefits for the week of May 21,1960.

Claimant in the second case was Theodore Grove, 376 Bowling Avenue, Bowling Green, and the defendants were Vic's Construction Company, RFD 5, and the State Department of Employment Security.

Mr. Grove was employed by Vic's Construction Company as a carpenter's helper until April 8, 1960. He then received eight weekly benefit checks totaling $296. The Board of Appeals ruled that he had insufficient earnings in covered employment during 1959 and the $296 he received constituted an overpayment.

Both claimants were represented by Attorney William Walsh. The defense attorney in both cases was J. N. Phillips of Baltimore.

Tighter Law Urged For Junkyards

Recommendations from the Allegany County Planning and Zoning Commission to tighten the regulations on junkyards in the county were referred yesterday to Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the Board of County Commissioners.

The recommendations were adopted February 2 by the planning group as they were presented by Julian Tarrant of the Ladislas Segoe and Associates' planning consultant firm.

One of the proposed improvements in the law would require an eight-foot-high fence around any junkyard so that the piled junk would not be visible from outside. Any such fence within 500 feet of a road would have to be painted and maintained in good condition.

Mr. Clark was asked to use these recommendations as a guide in drawing up changes to tighten the junkyard ordinance of the county.

House Group Seeks Change In Rules

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Committee on Alcoholic Beverages, one of the busiest in the Maryland House of Delegates, may find its load lightened next year.

If so, a controversial beer tax proposal will be responsible.

At present the committee receives, under House rules, every bill relating to alcoholic beverages. And these are many. It is the only committee of the legislature that receives a big batch of local, as well as statewide, bills.

Included sometimes are such fiscal hot potatoes as a veterans bonus and state employe salaries. The Alcholic Beverages Committee gets them only because they call for increasing the beer and-or wine tax.

The House Ways and Means Committee voted last Saturday, just before the windup of the legislature's 90-day session, to seek a change in the House rules next year. "If these are tax bills they should come here in the first place," said Chairman A. Gordon Boone, D-Balto County, to general murmurs of approval from committee members.

Beer Tax

The fiscal committee had received—in the last four days of the session—a red hot proposal introduced on Jan. 26 to raise the state's beer and wine taxes.

Chargined sponsors petitioned it out of the Alcoholic Beverages Committee on March 29 because the committee was "sitting on it." It came out without a report—either favorable or unfavorable—and was dispatched to the Ways and Means Committee.

The bill was gaining renown in the legislature because George H. Hocker, brewery representative, is a close friend and adviser of Gov. Tawes and was assumed to be opposed to the bill. It became known as "the Hocker rocker."

When the Ways and Means Committee took it up, the measure generated considerable heat before it was turned down by a 13-12 vote, as a substitute for a cigarette tax hike backed by the administration.

Boone Complains

Boone complained the committee had the measure for an insufficient time to consider it along with other fiscal matters. Besides, he said, the beer tax should be tapped for future state needs.

Sponsors again petitioned the bill to the floor, in the final hours of the session, and it sank 82-49—again on the arguments that it was considered too late. Del. Charles M. Moore, D-Harford, one of the sponsors, told the House the beer bill would be back next year.

A $90 million veterans bonus bill sponsored annually by Sen. Harry T. Phoebus, R-Somerset, suffered a similar fate in 1959 when it received "courtesy" passage in the Senate and went into an apparent graveyard in the House Alcoholic Beverages Committee.

But bonus backers marshalled enough support to bring it to the floor in the midst of a Senate-House dispute over teachers salary and the House adjourned abruptly.

Phoebus later charged that "Mr. Hocker adjourned the House" to avoid the beer tax in the bonus proposal.

County Issues Six Permits For Dwellings

Six more permits for new dwellings, costing a total of $79,000, were issued yesterday in the office of James G. Stevenson, clerk to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Robert E. Miller, 803 Ridgedale Avenue, was issued a permit for a $20,000 brick house which he plans to build on Oldtown Road in Election District 16. It will be 28.6 feet by 70 feet in size. Thomas J. Seach, 11 Frederick Street, obtained a permit for a $15,000 brick house which he plans in part of the Narrows Park acreage in Election District 29. It will be 33 by 58 feet in size.

Clyde S. Slider, 811 Louisiana Avenue, obtained permits to construct two $14,000 dwellings on Vocke Lane in Election District 29. Both will be 28 by 44 feet in size and will be of brick construction.

The permits for the other two dwellings estimated their cost at $8,000 each. David D. Harris, Flintstone, obtained one of them for a 28 by 40 foot brick house he proposes to build in Election District 3 at Flintstone. Eugene Horton, 18 North Lee Street, obtained a permit for a 24 by 32 foot frame dwelling he plans to build in Election District 29, LaVale.

A decided boost in building activity if reflected by the building permits issued in the first week of April. There have been 16 in this first week compared with 39 during the entire month of March, which was the best in total volume of construction since last August.

RC To Begin Course For Gray Ladies

The Allegany Chapter, American Red Cross, will begin a course for Gray Ladies May 4, according to Mrs. Sara Lindsay, executive secretary.

Beginning at 10 a. m. a two-hour orientation program will be conducted by Mrs. Robert Gerson, area chairman of volunteers. The afternoon session will begin at 1 p. m. with a two-hour introduction to Gray Lady service under the direction of Mrs. Edward Naughton, chairman of Gray Ladies.

Introduction to hospital work, covering six hours will be arranged at the first session. Some on the job training will be required to complete the course.

The purpose of the course is to prepare Gray Ladies for volunteer service in Memorial and Sacred Heart hospitals and Allegany County Infirmary.

Gray Ladies service began in 1918 when a group of volunteers started serving patients at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington. They first worked as hostesses in recreation activities but when sick and injured soldiers returned from European battles, they began to give more personal service to individual patients in the wards. The gray dress adopted as the official uniforms caused the patients to refer to the volunteers affectionately as the Gray Ladies.

In addition to service in times of natural disasters, Gray Ladies join forces with other Red Cross Workers to help the chapter carry out its primary responsibility for the welfare of disaster victims. In the event of an enemy caused disaster, Red Cross workers will be called upon to assist in Civil Defense efforts.

Applications for the course are now being received through the local Red Cross Office. Any one interested in becoming a member of the Gray Ladies may call PA 2-1760.

Teachers' Unit Discusses Salary Status

Members of the legislative committee of the Allegany County Teachers Association met yesterday afternoon with Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster and discussed possible action to improve their salary situation.

When the Board of County Commissioners adopted the annual levy list Tuesday morning for the fiscal year starting July 1, it provided a $100 increase in all teachers' salaries and similar improvements in the salaries of principals, supervisors, secretaries and custodians. That will make the teachers' salary range from $3,900 to $6,000 in the 12th year with a bachelor's degree.

The legislative group had asked for a schedule beginning at $4,000 and reaching a top of $6,200. They are particularly concerned with the fact that the county commissioners made no provisions in their levy for using an estimated $550,000 which the county is expected to receive from the state from cigarette taxes and a lower base for sales tax.

Leslie J. Clark, county attorney, explained that the commissioners legally could not take this money into account because they are not certain of the details of the bills and Governor J. Millard Tawes has not yet signed them.

Fox Posts $1,000 Bond On Charges

Richard K. Fox, rear of 110 Utah Avenue, was released after posting $500 bond on two charges at a hearing before Magistrate Paul W. Barnett.

Fox was charged with unlawfully keeping or managing a gaming table or other place for gambling, or having an interest in a gaming table or profits.

The two warrants against Fox were obtained earlier this week by Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney for Allegany County.

The hearing on the two charges will be heard at a later date before Magistrate Barnett.

Thomas J. S. Waxter, director of the State Welfare Department, also attended and discussed the effect of certain state and federal welfare legislation which has been enacted or is in process of being enacted.

Five members of the Allegany County Welfare Board were among those attending. Included were George K. Steiner, chairman; County Commissioner John T. Mason, Harry I. Stegmaier, Rev. Charles W. Bogan and Mrs. William A. Douglas.

ABL Research Paves Way For Rocket Advance

12,000-Mile Range Claimed For Titan

Rocket fuel research at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory has helped open the way for work on a new rocket that could be fired halfway around the world, the Baltimore Evening Sun said yesterday.

The Evening Sun, in a front page story, reported that the Martin Company is developing the 12,000-mile rocket.

That's a range of 2,000 miles farther than any known Soviet rocket, 4,000 miles more than any yet achieved by a United States intercontinental ballistic missile, and nearly twice the planned range of any U.S. solid-fuel rocket, according to the newspaper story.

Work on the new rocket, called Titan III, has been in progress at Martin's Denver, Colo., plant for at least six months, and the company's Middle River (Md.) plant also may be working on it, according to the newspaper.

The Air Force, to which Martin officials referred inquiries about the rocket, said it had no such project, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

The Evening Sun said the research that led to the improved solid fuel was done in part at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, a Navy owned plant near Pinto which is operated by Hercules Powder Company.

Titan III represents a "third generation" in a series developed by Martin. The first series uses liquid fuel, the second generation, storable liquid fuel.

The new project reportedly is the result of a significant breakthrough in the development of solid propellants which burn more evenly and hence yield greater thrust. The improved fuel thus provides better directional control and permits reduction in guidance equipment.

ABL, which has done considerable research on cast double-base solid propellants, designed and produced the X-248 Altair rocket which has a record of 24 successes in as many firings. It also produces second-stage Polaris missile engines using an advanced solid fuel.

"Bonanza" Problem To Postmaster

Many viewers of "Bonanza," NBC-TV's series that is seen on Saturdays at 7:30 p. m., may be surprised to know there really is a Ponderosa, U. S. A.

The situation is causing some problems for Mary Ellen Meskimen, postmaster of Ponderosa, N. M.

"Since I am the postmaster of the only Ponderosa in the U. S. A., I would appreciate a proper forwarding address of Mr. Ben Cartwright's mail," she wrote recently to Lorne Greene, who stars as Ben Cartwright on the "Bonanza" series. Cartwright is the fictitious character who owns the Ponderosa, an imaginary square-mile spread, in the TV program.

Most of the mail is addressed simply: Mr. Ben Cartwright, Ponderosa, U. S. A.

Postmaster Meskimen, aware that the mail must get through, went searching for Mr. Ben Cartwright. She found him on television—and this is to report the mail is now going through . . . on schedule.

Sal Mineo Claims Records Harmful To Acting Career

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—The Sal Mineo you'll see on the big special, "Cry Vengeance," over NBC in April is a far cry from the Sal Mineo you used to see on TV . . . He has taken the bull by the echo chamber and completely given up singing.

"I wish I'd never made a record," Sal says. "People didn't take me seriously as an actor. The records kept leading to TV singing jobs—in one season, I did 12 variety shows. And I suddenly realized that people who just watched TV variety shows would only know me as a singer.

"The way I was going was OK, if I just wanted to make lots of money. I could have done a TV series and I could have made some more of those delinquent movies. But I wanted to act—really act.

"The only trouble is my fans. Most of them don't understand. They keep writing, asking me why I don't make some more records. I'd like them all to realize that this is something I have to do. I want to be recognized as an actor, not a personality.

"I think some of my fans understand. And those that do are proud of my decision. It used to be if they told their parents they were Sal Mineo fans, they would be kind of ashamed of admitting it. I just played juvenile delinquents and sang rock 'n' roll.

"But now they can tell their parents without being ashamed. They can point to 'Exodus' and 'Cry Vengeance' and other good things I've been doing lately."

Polly Bergen's Young Son Likes Nude Statue

While in California to co-star with Gregory Peck in Universal-International's "Cape Fear," Polly Bergen has rented the house in which the late Tyrone Power lived. In the back yard is the famous nude statue of actress Linda Christian, who was Powers' wife.

Polly's 18-month-old son has become fascinated by it, and spends much time standing in front of it and talking to it. Says Polly: "Peter is worried because the statue doesn't answer, and I'm worried that it may."

On Personal Tour

Barry Sullivan, star of "Tall Man," has completed filming of the series for the season and is now making a series of personal appearances in Texas.

SINGER NOW ACTOR—Sal Mineo, right, is confronted by Ben Gazzara in a scene from "Cry Vengeance." In the background are Peter Falk and Bennye Gatteys.

Sal Mineo Claims Records Harmful To Acting Career

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—The Sal Mineo you'll see on the big special, "Cry Vengeance," over NBC in April is a far cry from the Sal Mineo you used to see on TV . . . He has taken the bull by the echo chamber and completely given up singing.

"I wish I'd never made a record," Sal says. "People didn't take me seriously as an actor. The records kept leading to TV singing jobs—in one season, I did 12 variety shows. And I suddenly realized that people who just watched TV variety shows would only know me as a singer.

"The way I was going was OK, if I just wanted to make lots of money. I could have done a TV series and I could have made some more of those delinquent movies. But I wanted to act—really act.

"The only trouble is my fans. Most of them don't understand. They keep writing, asking me why I don't make some more records. I'd like them all to realize that this is something I have to do. I want to be recognized as an actor, not a personality.

"I think some of my fans understand. And those that do are proud of my decision. It used to be if they told their parents they were Sal Mineo fans, they would be kind of ashamed of admitting it. I just played juvenile delinquents and sang rock 'n' roll.

"But now they can tell their parents without being ashamed. They can point to 'Exodus' and 'Cry Vengeance' and other good things I've been doing lately."

FDR Series Planned

"The Roosevelt Years" is planned for ABC-TV's 1962-63 season as a followup to its 26-episode Winston Churchill series.

Come rain, come shine, filming of "Lawman" goes on as scheduled. When the heavens open up and John Russell, the star of the ABC-TV series, puts in a full day working in the California dew he says that just getting home and into dry clothes seems like a vacation to him.

Barry Sullivan of "Tall Man" notes that most people hope for the best and some even work for it.

FDR Series Planned

"The Roosevelt Years" is planned for ABC-TV's 1962-63 season as a followup to its 26-episode Winston Churchill series.

Come rain, come shine, filming of "Lawman" goes on as scheduled. When the heavens open up and John Russell, the star of the ABC-TV series, puts in a full day working in the California dew he says that just getting home and into dry clothes seems like a vacation to him.

Barry Sullivan of "Tall Man" notes that most people hope for the best and some even work for it.
